CORONADO HIGH SCHOOL.

Coronado High School 1923.

Coronado Journal High School Notes High School Notes

The High School is once more opened for school work. On Tuesday, Sept. 4, the halls were filled with an enthusiastic group of pupils, among whom many new faces were in evidence and many old faces were missed.

As the teachers, both new and old members of the faculty, entered the assembly hall they were greeted with applause. The members of the faculty are anxious to get down to work after pleasant vacations spent in many different places.

Mr. and Mrs. Cutler are very enthusiastic about their trip to Honolulu. The entire faculty are resuming this year's duties confident of a successful year in all undertakings.

The first assembly was opened by a talk from Mr. Cutler. He summarized the work to be accomplished this year and urged the students to be good High School citizens. The new teachers, Miss Baumgartner and Mrs. Freeman were then introduced to the students by Mr. Cutler. Both responded by saying a few words to the students. Mr. Garnet Holmes, the director of the Fete of the Sun pageant, was next introduced. He asked for sixty pupils to volunteer to take part in the pageant. In a brief way he summarized the significance of the pageant. After a speech from Arthur

Holmes, president of the student body, the assembly broke up and the pupils went to their respective classes.

Football

The boys are working faithfully in their football practice, and great things are expected of the team this year. Although quite a few members of last year's team have graduated, Coach Cook feels that he has good material to work with, and, of course, the boys are out to win.

Tennis

The fine new tennis court on the school grounds is a great incentive to practice faithfully in view of being on the tennis team in the spring.

Basketball

The girls will not begin their basketball practice until next week. They are anxiously awaiting this time. All the members of the girl's championship team of last year are here with the exception of Elizabeth Floyd. This fact makes the team's outlook very promising and the girls are determined to repeat their last year's success.

Student Body Meeting

The first student body meeting was held Thursday morning, Arthur Holmes, the new president, presided. The president urged the students to bring the money for their A. S. B. dues. The executive committee placed the dues at $2, which also entitles the students to attend all games. The members of the Freshman class were called upon for speeches, which were given amidst peals of laughter.

Typewriting Class

Several of the girls and boys of last year's typewriting classes are receiving the congratulations of their friends over the receipt of the Woodward Accuracy and Speed certificates and medals. The tests were given last spring, but as the papers had to be sent to New York for correction the awards did not come until after the close of school.

Commercial Department

The commercial department has again assumed the look of a busy office. At present the pupils are occupied in making mimeograph copies of oral English selections for Mrs. Cutler. At least 1000 copies will be made.

Science Department

The science department has a larger enrollment this year than in any previous year.

Girl's Club

The first Girl's club meeting was called on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The new president, Martha Farnum, presided over the meeting. The Freshman girls were welcomed into the club. Nominations for treasurer, vice-president and class advisor were made. The election will take place next Thursday.

School Plays

Mrs. Cutler has chosen her plays for this year. "Merely Mary Anne" will be the first play presented. It will be a school play. The oral English classes have a very large enrollment and most of the material for the plays can be cast from the classes.

In the special oral English classes every student will study the same selection, and the student who is most efficient in presenting the selection will give it before the assembly. This places the work on a strictly competitive basis.

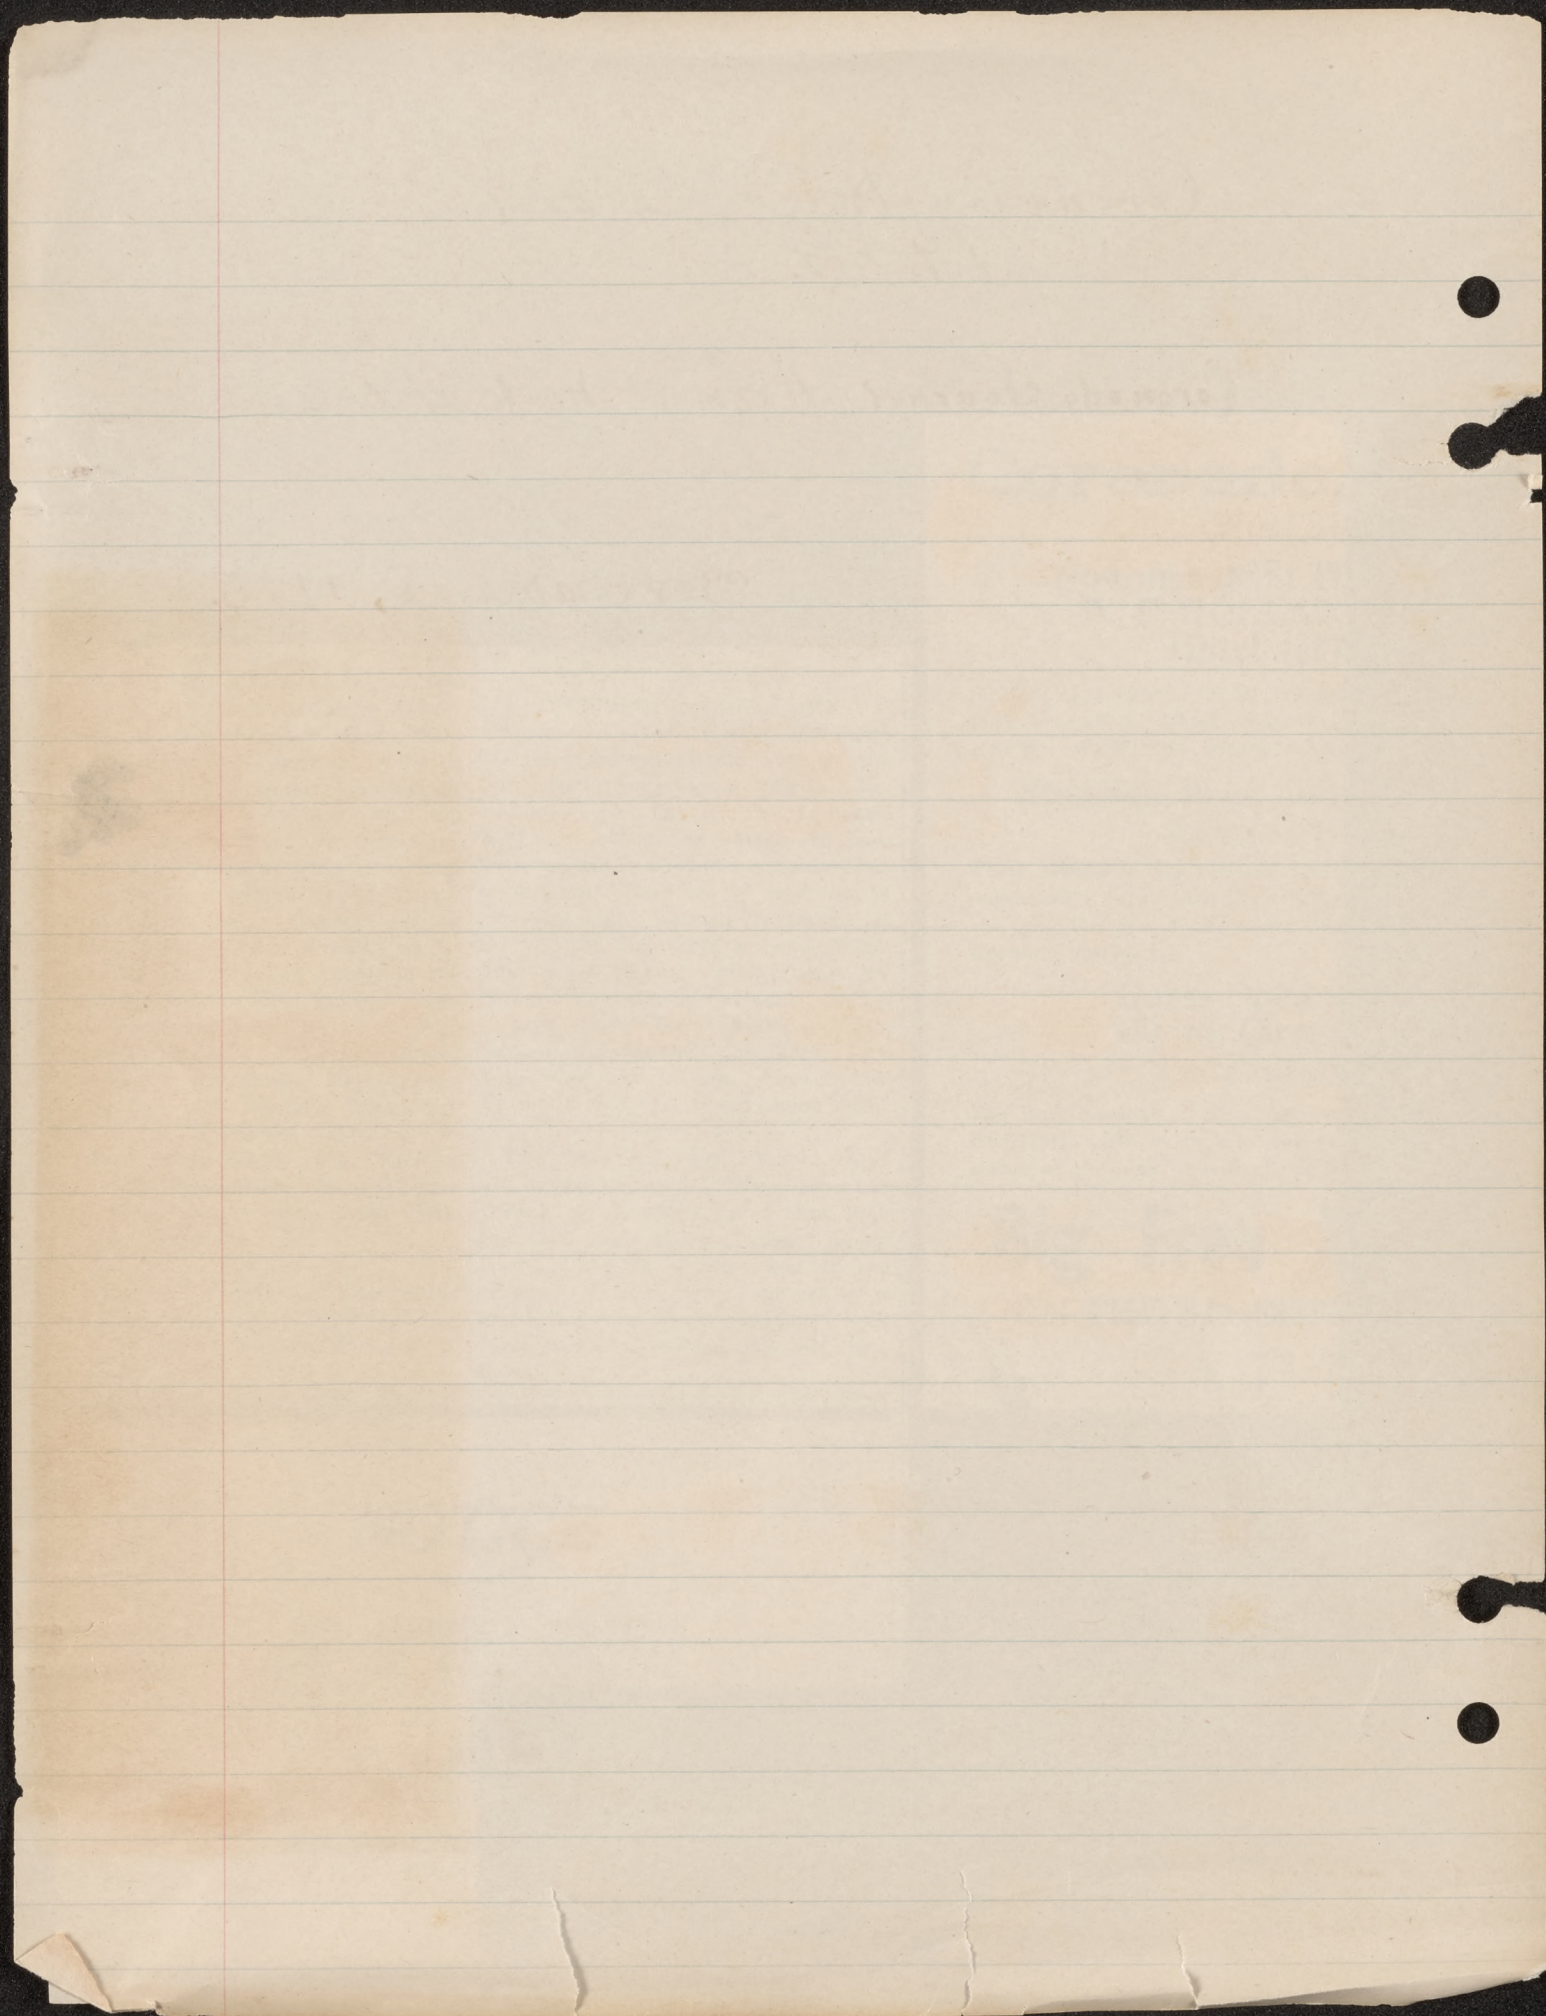

thinks about it. Harry Burt also had a misfortune, though of a less serious nature. One of his socks refused to "lay put," so the girls managed to provide him with a beautiful garter. "a bright pink hue, though the color was somewhat impaired by the d of the game. Besides the above "casualties," John Supple sustained a broken arm and Eddie Meza hurt his arm and Charley Smith slightly injured. Last Thursday there arose a disaster in Miss Fosdick's bookkeeping class as to which is the better, a bookkeeping machine or brains. Of course, Miss Fosdick convinced the pect of steady work is rapidly turning a majority of these people into ready buyers. "The combination of these several factors points to a merchandizing shortage. If I were a retailer I should certainly buy all goods necessary for Christmas trade now, and insist upon early deliveries. "Banks have ample funds to meet all commercial and investment requirements. In many localities money is a drug on the market. The slight seasonal tightening will doubtless be experienced at crop-moving time; but, taking the fall season as a whole, money throughout the West and South should come nearer to the New York market level."

(Nov. 4, 1922.)

The young "hopefuls" of Coronado are not going to allow "Dad" to say "Goff" is an old man's game. Our photograph gives an idea of the boys and girls who will later offer their parents "half a stroke a hole" without much trouble. They are taking part in the junior golf tourney in progress at the Country Club.

High School Notes

The High School is now settled down to its regular routine and everything is running smoothly. The present enrollment of classes is permanent, no pupil will be allowed to change his class schedule after this week.

Class officers have been elected. The following are the results of the elections:

Freshman class — President, J. Thompson; vice president, S. Owens; secretary, J. Weir; treasurer, D. Allen; class representative, R. Sneider; class adviser, Mr. Cook.

The following officers were elected by the executive committee Friday, September 7; Harry Burt, football manager; Chas. Smith, publicity manager; Maurice Rodgers, letter-man and Myliss Foster, ticket auditor.

Mrs. Killian, better known in Coronado as Miss Port, spent the week end with the Cutlers. Mrs. Killian is a former teacher of the High School and was very popular with the students as well as the faculty. Much to the delight of the pupils Mrs. Killian came to school Tuesday morning and she gave a short talk in assembly.

Mrs. Cutler has finished casting Merely Mary Ann, the school play. Inez Cridge will have the lead and Ched Brown will play opposite her.

The cast consists of 18 characters. It is hoped that this years plays will meet with the same success as those of last year.

At a Girls' Club meeting held Thursday, September 13, Nelle Anderson was elected Girl's Athletic Manager, Rosamond Snyder, girls' yell leader and Viola Tatum, vice president. Also a committee for the Hi Jinx was appointed; consisting of Viola Tatum, chairman; Myliss Foster, Nelle Anderson, Gladys Craft and Mona Norris.

Orchestra

The High School Orchestra is starting out in a very promising way with an enrollment the first night of 23. Several of the old members graduated last year but quite a number of new members have come to take their places. Enrollment is still open and if you are interested, register as soon as possible. If you have no instrument the school will endeavor to furnish one.

To Initiate Freshmen

A committee of Sophomores are working out plans for the initiation of the Freshmen, and the entire school is anxiously awaiting the fun.

Radio

This year another subject has been added to the courses of the Night School. This is radio. A large supply of equipment was bought during the summer, including a large $60 Magnavox and a 100 volt storage battery. The class will make different radio sets of the parts and try to imbibe some of the theory of radio, besides the more practical side. The class is open to everyone although it already has a large enrollment.

The manual arts classes in the High School are starting out with larger classes than last year. In the woodwork department the usual preliminary tool practice is being emphasized. The machine shop students are making and installing new bronze bearings in electric motors and are taking up belts, gears, etc. All the drawing tables are occupied in the Mechanical Drawing classes.

Sept. 22, 1923.

School Notes

The initiation of the Freshmen took place with due pomp and ceremony on Friday afternoon during the 7th and 8th periods. The Sophomores showed great originality in the stunts they put the Freshmen through. The "Pea Greens" proved to be good sports and worthy of their entrance into High School. While they bravely faced their trials and tribulations the faculty and Student Body were convulsed with laughter. After the initiation a tug of war was held. The Sophomores won pulling the Freshmen slowly through the water.

The girls physical training classes have been entirely reorganized this year. There will be four teachers in charge of the athletics so that they will be better cared for than in any previous year. Miss Baumgartner will have the girls basketball; Miss McNeil, tennis; Miss Kennedy swimming, folk dancing and other gymnasium work and Miss Buliver will assist Miss Kennedy by taking indoor baseball. The year has been divided into four terms so that a month of swimming can be had at the beginning of the year and at the end of the year. These divisions in the work will add interest and almost be a guarantee that no ditching will be attempted.

Mr. Shoemaker has organized his physical training classes and the boys are meeting every afternoon. Hand ball, indoor baseball, soccer and tennis are being played.

Since the adoption of the merit system, tardiness to school and classes has almost been obliterated. The merit system in many ways will be a great asset to the school.

High School Notes

We are very proud of the showing our boys made against the huskies of the U. S. Melville in the football game Friday. The enthusiastic students who turned out to the game were well rewarded by seeing Harry Burt make a touchdown, which gave us our first victory, the score being 7-6. We hope the boys will put up as good a fight when they meet Sweetwater here on the twelfth of October.

Our flag is at half mast and the school is greatly saddened by the death of our friend and former classmate, Dorothy Bandel, a graduate of last year. Dorothy was an active member in our school and had planned to take a Post Graduate course this year, but was unable to do so because of her ill health.

The girls have started basketball practice. By the looks of the new material and the new coach, Miss Baumgartner, the girls are in line again for the county championship.

The Sophomore class honored the Peagreens with a delightful party given in the school Friday night. From reports we hear that the classes and teachers enjoyed games and refreshments until the late hour of ten o'clock.

Tuesday morning the assembly was entertained by a clever dialogue given by Marie Zaharova and Harry Burt, introduced by Mercedes Gates, all of the Oral English classes. The selection was entitled "The Fair Enthusiast" and was a take-off on the flapper.

The Seniors will soon be seen flashing their new sweaters. The colors are black and gold so we are expecting something very brilliant.

A meeting of the teachers was held Friday in order to discuss the standings of the pupils. All students who are not doing recommended or passing work have been notified by the teachers and are expected to come up to the average of the class or to drop extra work. Extra help may be had at any time from the teachers.

The football boys are in hard practice in order to meet the Naval Hospital Team in a game at the stadium Saturday, September the twenty-eighth. This game is to be a benefit for the widows and dependants of the men who lost their lives at Pont Honda. We hope to have a good rooting section from Coronado.

High School Notes

By EVELYN HALLIDAY

We are glad to announce that our football team is gaining a "foothold." Saturday, September 29, the local team played the Naval hospital and won their laurels. They won over the hospital squad, 29-0. The name of the adversary might easily strike fear to less hardy boys than ours. We look forward to giving Sweetwater High a good drubbing on October 12.

In the morning assemblies, we are quite often entertained by oral selections from the students. Douglas Corrin, gave an interesting selection, entitled, "How the Camel Got His Hump," by Kipling.

We are glad to welcome Lucile Beil. She is our star running center on the girl's basketball team. It would have been hard to fill her place, but with Lucille's support, we hope to turn out another championship team.

The monnetous question of Senior class sweaters has at last been decided upon. They have been ordered and a school will soon be shocked by the appearance of so much brilliancy adorning the fair senior's shoulders.

You have probably heard of Miss Marjorie Bowker's success in passing the Civil Service examination. Few realize, however, the significance of her being a high school graduate of Coronado. It certainly speaks well for the commercial department to have turned out a girl of such efficiency.

Interest is being aroused in the typewriting periods, over the speed contest that occurs monthly. The honor roll at the rear of the room has a place for the pupil's name who is most accurate and speediest.

Good scholarship is always rewarded. Those receiving good grades are permitted to take their gymnasium during a study period, instead of after school. This is very acceptable to many who wish to be free after school.

The "Girls' Hi Jinx" practice has begun in earnest. It must be a thriller, because the "dear boys" can't refrain from chattering up the windows at rehearsal time.

High School Notes

Considerable discussion was aroused last week in the Student Body in regard to granting members of our swimming team letters for the past year. As the teams which were there at the time of the meet did not officially represent their respective schools, it was decided that our men were not entitled to letters. Upon a motion by the Student Body it was decided we should refer to the constitution. A committee was then appointed to do this.

The football game with San Diego High School last Friday resulted in a score of 0 to 0. The game was hotly contested, and we feel very proud of the showing that our men made against the heavy San Diego team.

Much interest has been created in regard to the football game this Friday with the Sweetwater eleven, on our polo grounds. Our men are working hard, and have given us assurance they will do their best. This is the first conference game of the season.

The Juniors are proud displayers of new class pins which they have recently purchased.

We have been favored several mornings with "skits" and humorous readings by the class in Oral English.

The alumni of our school who graduated last year have shown their interest in the school by giving us short talks, which have been greatly appreciated by the student body.

Marwood Konold.

Coronado High Defeats Melville Eleven

Last Friday afternoon at the Service Field the local high school football eleven tore through the strong Melville team and came out victors to the tune of 7 to 6. The two teams battled up and down the field for three quarters, neither team being able to score. However, when the last quarter was about half over, the navy team took the ball on a series of line bucks and put it on Coronado's five yard line. Here the green and white boys held studdornly for three downs and then Captain Barrett of the Melville eleven smashed the line for a touchdown. The try at goal failed. Although time was short and the Coronado eleven was behind, they were not the least bit discouraged. Fighting with the Coronado "Never say die spirit" they finally placed the ball over the goal line through some brilliant playing on the part of Dilley and McCreery and a long pass to Burt, who after the catch ran five yards to a touchdown. Smith at right guard then dropped back and with much difficulty due to the ball being fumbled, kicked it neatly between the posts about a foot over the bar for the winning point of the game.

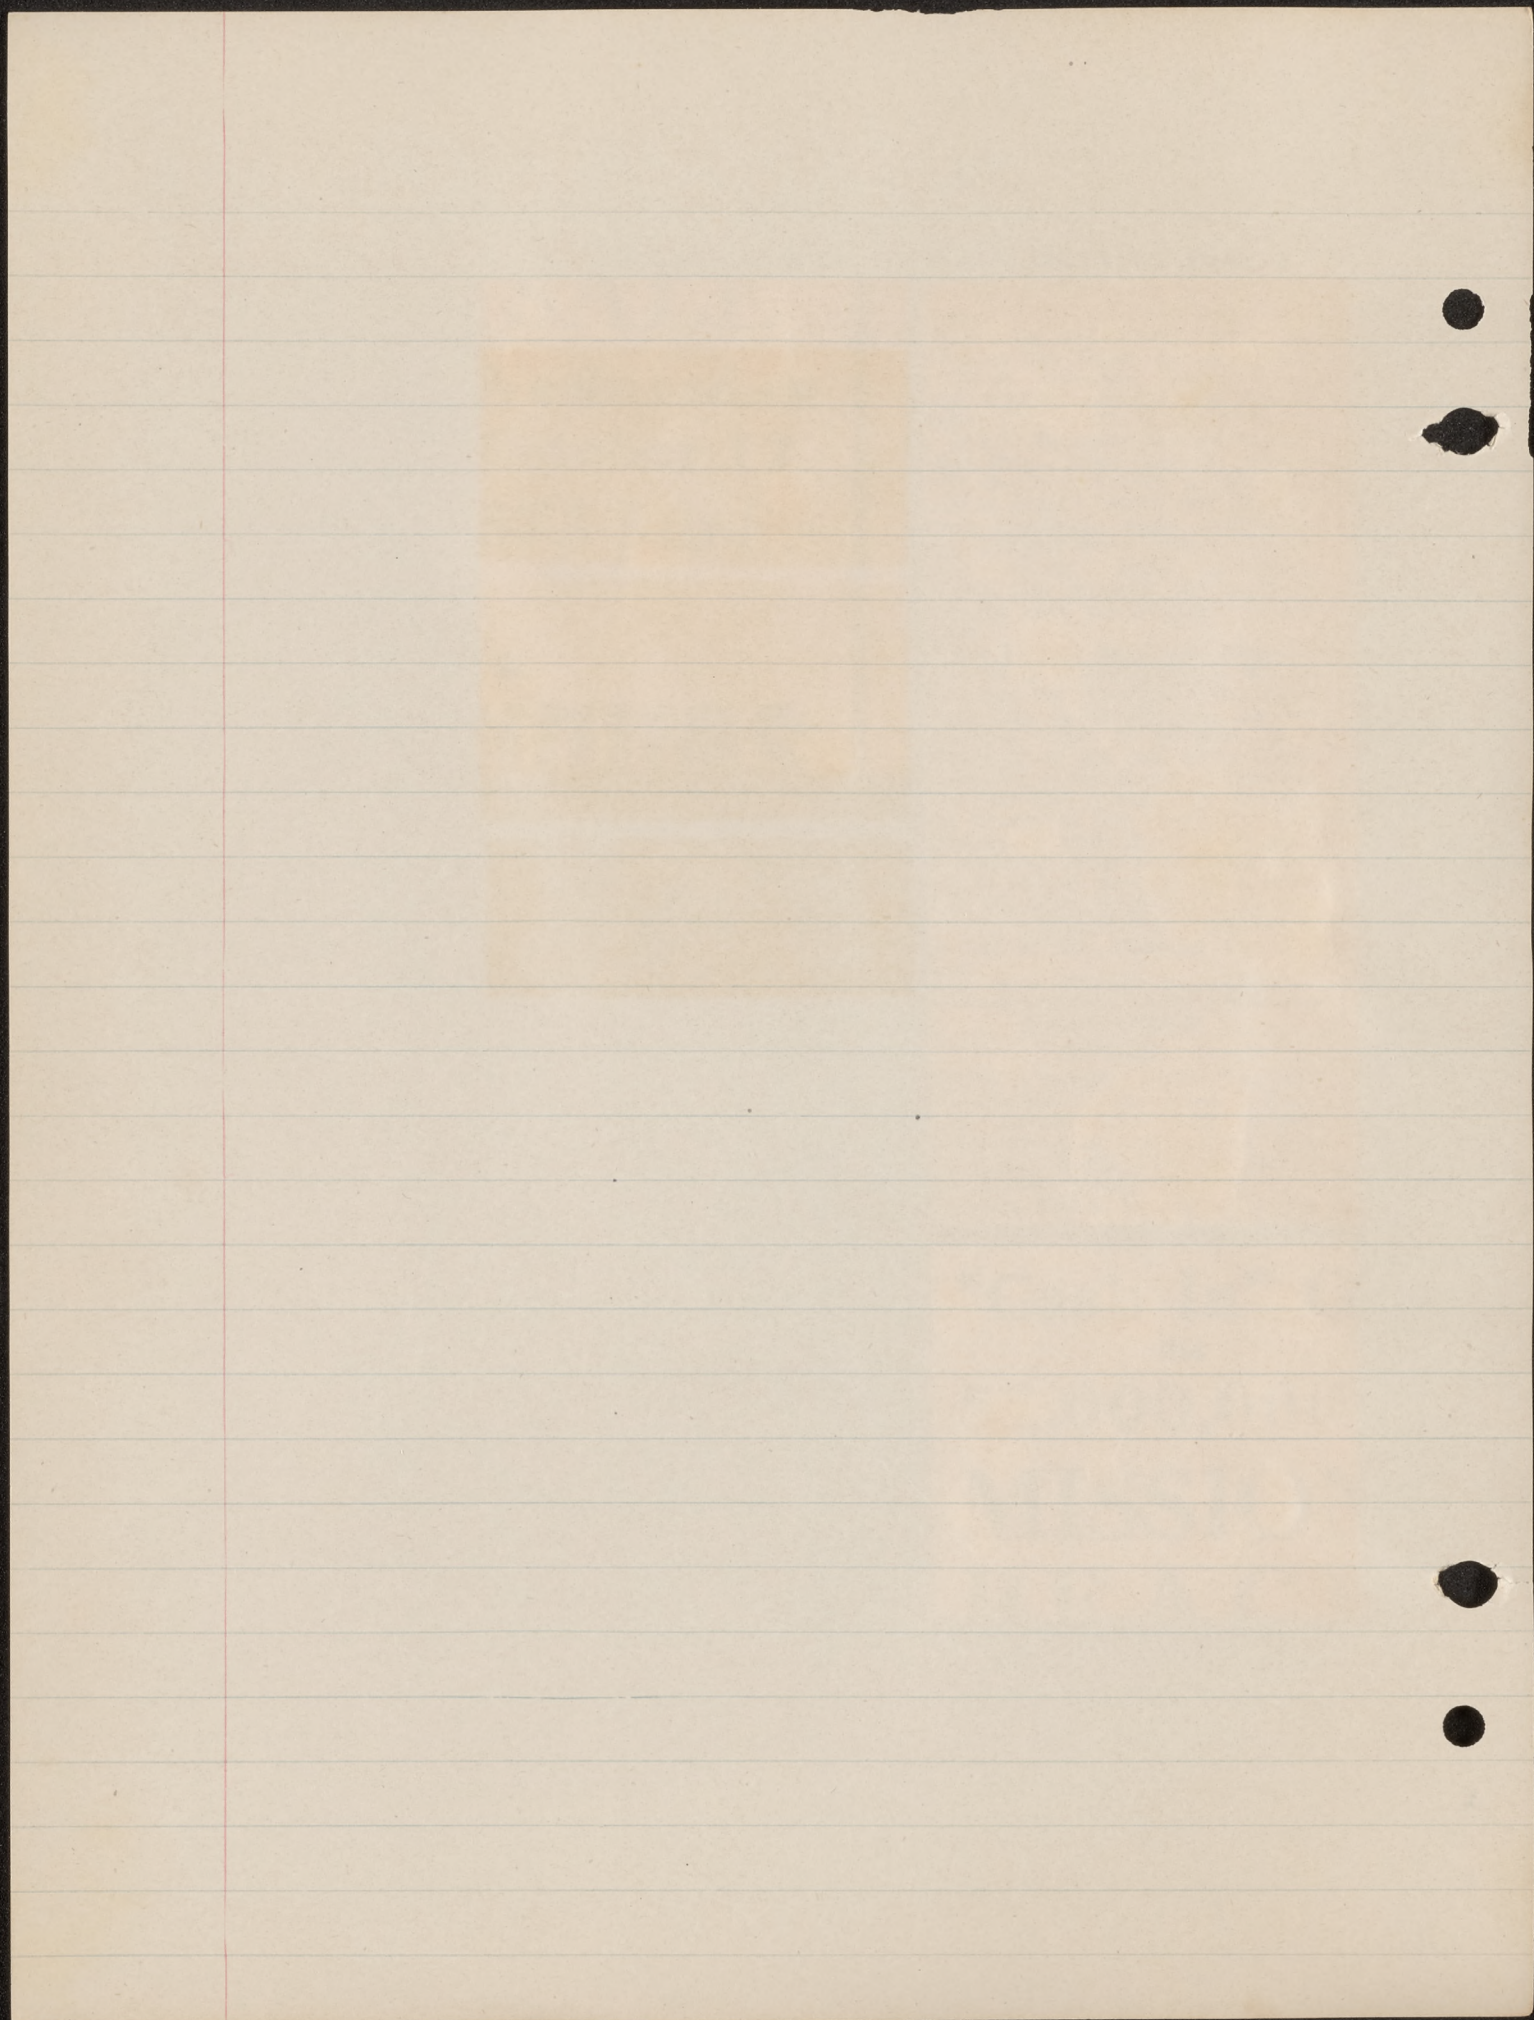

Coach Clyde Cooke's Coronado High Freshman eleven was defeated 14 to 9 by the Memorial Junior High school team last Thursday in a practice game on the Memorial field. Hale, Coronado, full, and Howard, center, made a good showing. Coronado's lineup: Lyons and Jones, ends; tackles, Muirhead, Metcalf; guards, Roy, Phillips; center, Howard; quarter, Bell; halves, J. Green, G. Green; full, E. Hale; utility, R. Nichol, Griffith and Owens.

Oct. 13, 1923

Springing a distinct surprise, Coach Clyde Cook's Coronado high school second team, made up of the only eleven players outside of the 11 varsity men, Thursday defeated Coach Verne Landreth's Roosevelt Junior high school eleven, 6 to 0, on the Roosevelt field. E. Green, Coronado right half, scored the only touchdown of the game, going around the end on a long run.

The game has no effect on the Junior league standings, some sophomore playing for Coronado. Hales, Metcalf and Green featured for Coronado, with the entire team showing better than in the game with Memorial last week, which the latter team won, 19 to 0.

Coronado Journal Personals - High School.

Sept. 8, 1923.

Miss Elizabeth Floyd is leaving this week for Los Angeles where she will attend the University of Southern California.

Miss Peggy McNeil well known in Coronado as one of the best swimmers of the Silver Gate Swimming club who has been spending the greater part of the summer at Lake Tahoe was a visitor to Coronado this week. Miss McNeil left for home in Hollywood the latter part of the week.

Mr. M. Gouldthrite, technical director for the Fete of the Sun Pageant entertained with a dinner party recently in honor of Kathleen Cridge who is taking a prominent part in the pageant.

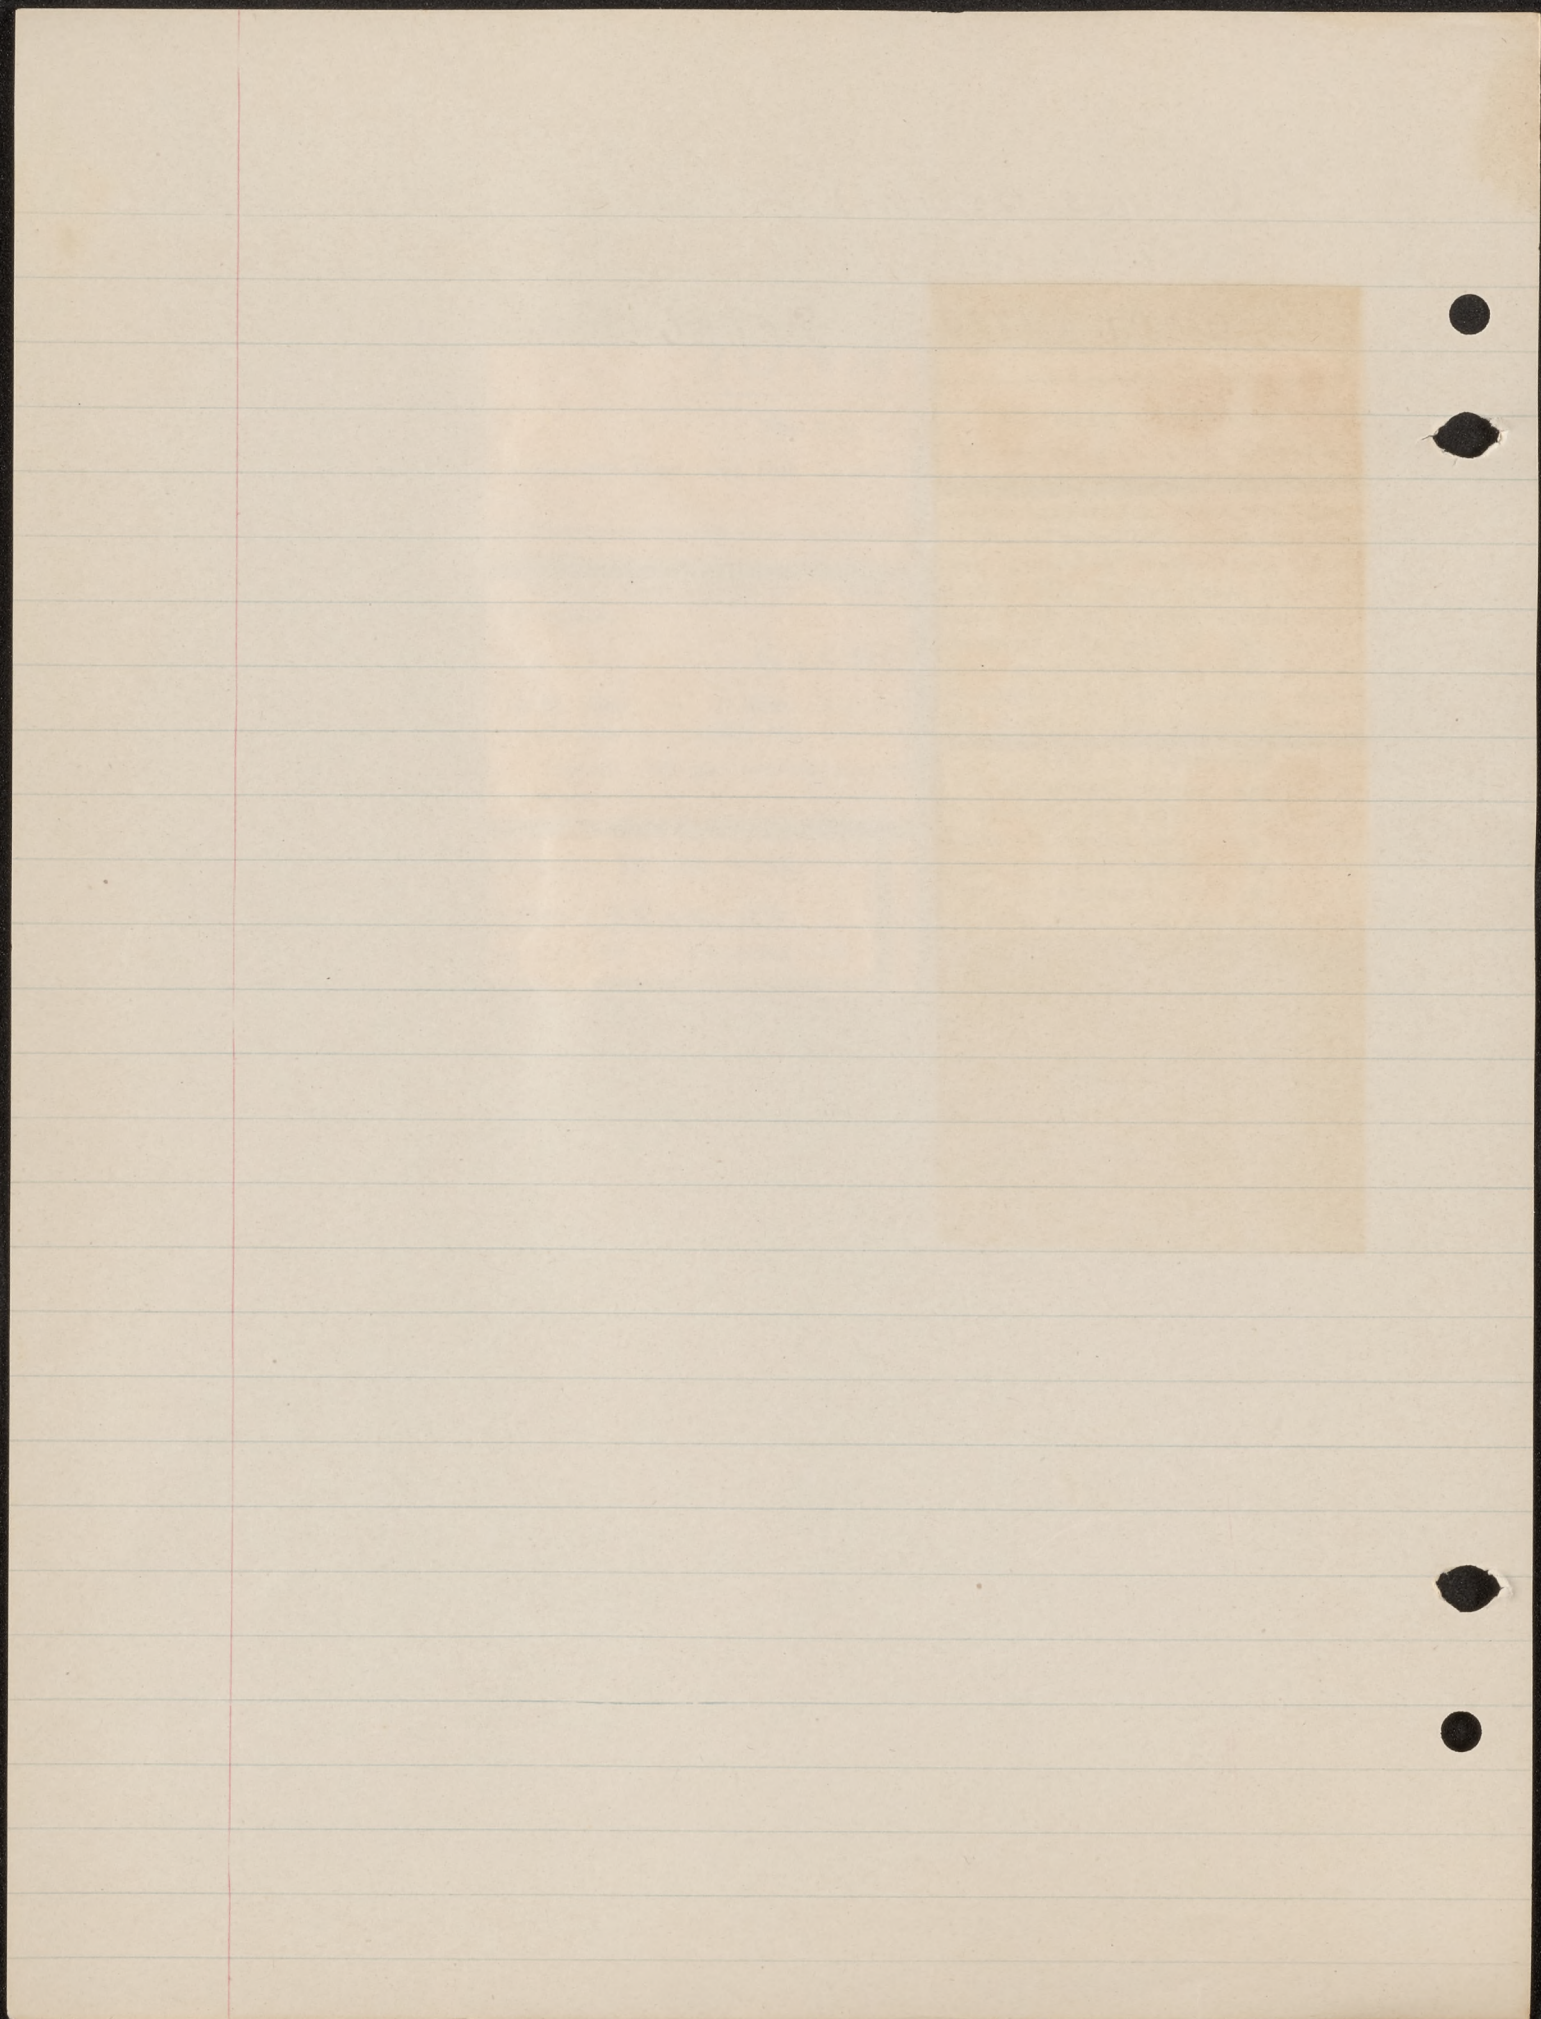

Sept. 29, 1923.

Word was received here last Monday that Miss Marjorie Bowker, 617 Sixth street, who took the U. S. civil service examination for stenographer on August 11, passed with the highest grade. Thirty took the examination and only two passed.

Herbert Jones of Coronado, a graduate of the Coronado Grammar and High Schools and of the San Diego Junior College left this week for Pasadena where he will take up his studies at the California Institute of Technology. His brother Alfred is now in his senior year at Whittier College.

Clarence Anderson, son of Chas. T. Anderson of the Coronado Home Bakery left this week for Arlington, Calif., where he is attending La Sierra Academy.

Hi-Y Notes

Oct. 13, 1923.

HI Y BOYS ORGANIZE

After a "bean feed" and rousing sing at the Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening fifteen boys of the Coronado High School organized a local Hi Y club. Mr. Roy Melvin, County Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. was present and explained the purpose of the club as the creation, maintenance and extension of high standards of Christian character, through the school and community. A program of local and county wide activity for the year was outlined that will include some get-togethers with the similar organizations at Grossmont, Sweetwater and Escondido High Schools. In November some of the boys will attend the Southern California Older Boys Conference in Pomona.

Officers of the Coronado Hi Y as chosen Wednesday night are: William McCreery, president; Robert Heilman, vice president; George Rogers, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Nottley Hammack, adult leader. The following High School fellows are charter members: Maurice Rogers, Louis Milten, Marewood Kenrall, Arthur Jessop, Aibert Newcomb, James McCreery, Allen Campbell, Allen Nicol, Robert Hemming, Wesley Burge, Arthur Holmes. The club will be open to a limited number of Coronado High bcys.

High School Notes

Coronado lost their first football game by a score of 14 to 13. Sweetwater made their winning kick about three minutes before the end of the game. The team will play Grossmont at Grossmont, Friday and we hope they have better luck.

The Girls Athletic club gave a dance Friday the twelfth in the Grammar School auditorium. The music was improved by the addition of Marwood Konald and his saxophone.

The Junior pins have arrived and there is some discussion as to whether they are prettier than the Seniors. Their pins are in the shape of a shield with a crown and 1924 in gold numerals.

The merit system has been adopted and will perhaps keep the students from being absent or tardy as they will receive a merit for not being absent and one for not being tardy to school or class. Seven merits are required to be excused from the examinations.

A meeting of the C club of the High School was held Wednesday, October 17th. The purpose was to elect officers and start the club in full swing. The officers for the year of 1923-24 who were elected are Harry Burt, president; Elden Dilley, vice-president and Albert Newcombe, secretary and treasurer. Although the club is handicapped by lack of sufficient members they are planning to make a big success of it this year.

Hazel Marvin.

Mrs. Harry S. Barber Sues For Divorce

Mrs. Margaret T. Barber, 1026 G avenue, filed suit against her husband Harry S. Barber in the Superior court, San Diego, on October 13, alleging that Barber inflicted upon her grievous mental suffering and has treated her in an extremely cruel and inhuman manner. She also makes charges against him of a nature that cannot be published with propriety.

Miss Ruth McNeill, popular teacher at the Coronado High School spent last week end in Los Angeles where she attended the U. S. C.-California football game.

Clarence Anderson came down from Arlington where he is attending the Sierra Academy, for a visit with his father and brother over last week end.

Boy Scout Notes

The Coronado Scouts held no meeting last week, but went to Alpine over the week end, where they gave a minstrel show to the disabled soldiers at the hospital there.

Friday afternoon the scouts started for Alpine in an army truck from Fort Rosecrans, but near Grossmont it broke down, so an ambulance was sent from the fort which took them to their destination, arriving at nine p. m. Scout Beachley, the troop cook, prepared a good supper for the hungry scouts.

Saturday morning the scouts were divided into patrols, which went on scouting hikes. In the afternoon Scout Hathaway came into town and returned to Alpine with Mr. Boston, whom we all thank for his kind assistance at the show. After a grand supper the scouts welcomed Scouts Jessop, McCreary, Newcomb, and Hemming, who arrived from Coronado just in time to take part in the show, which was a fine success. The scouts arrived home late Saturday night after a splendid time.

Friday night the scouts pitched camp in an oak grove just beyond the hospital. Those who were at the camp were Scoutmaster Manwaring, Scouts Beachley, Boston, M. Corrin, Craft, Enos, Hathaway, Laing, Needham, Pike, A. Reid, Rogers and Tatum.

Gene Estoppy Has Busy Day at Beach

Last Sunday was a busy day for Gene Estoppy, Coronado's popular life guard. According to Gene a particularly heavy surf was running off Coronado and some of the fair bathers who ventured out too far experienced some difficulty in getting back to shore, eight of them having to call upon Gene to help them. The first were Mrs. Haverstock and her daughter who were out quite a little distance. Their cries for help attracted Gene's attention and he plunged into the raging surf and after a terrific struggle with the immense rollers managed to bring both the women safely to shore. No sooner had they reached the shore when cries for help came from two young women who were struggling with the big breakers that were rolling in, and again Gene went out into the boiling surf and brought the two women to safety. During the afternoon he was called out four times by cries for help from the bathers and brought to shore a young girl and three men.

"Gene" says that last Sunday was one of the most strenuous days he has had in his many years experience as a life guard. Coronado is indeed fortunate in having for its life guard a man with the ability and courage of Gene Estoppy.

"Bathing continues to be a popular sport here, but bathers who are not strong swimmers are cautioned not to go out too far when the surf is rolling heavy," Gene says.

Mr. Fred A. Boyer, Principal of the Coronado Grammar and Junior High Schools returned early Friday morning from Los Angeles where he spent three days attending the convention of County School Superintendents.

High School Notes

Friday we went to Grossmont and played them on their field. As the field and all was a little strange, in about the first three minutes of play, they scored a touchdown. From then on, it was a continuous fight, and at the end of the game the score stood 12 to 6, favor of Coronado Hi.

Next Friday we play Escondido and although they have been beaten twice we expect a good game and we will have to be on the lookout or they will beat us.

Tuesday was a big day for the Seniors. Their sweaters arrived. In assembly the curtain was raised, and when everyones eyes got used to it, they saw that it was the Seniors and their sweaters, some sweaters. The class was seated in a semicircle on the stage and all dressed in their Gold and Black sweaters. The boys' sweaters are gold color slip-ons with a big black twenty four across one side, and the girls' sweaters are coat sweaters with a collar, of the same orange color as the boys' and a black twenty four on one side. It certainly shows that we are not dead anyway, and I am sure the teachers will be able to distinguish us from now on. One freshman was heard to remark that, "the Seniors were bright even if they were noisy."

Next week we have the quarterly exams, so every one is trying hard to get 7 merits, as in our new merit system, if one receives 7 merits one is excused from all exams.

Friday evening, November 2, the Girls Club gives its annual Hi Jinks. It is said that the program is to be a good one, and is to be followed by a dance which should make it all the more attractive.

A. Jessop.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

To the Parents and Friends of the Boy Scouts of Troop 35, Coronado:

On Saturday evening, October 27, (tonight), a meeting of the Scout's parents and of all others that are interested, is to be held at the Scout hut on the bay front.

A camp fire program will be given by the Scouts. Mr. Wolf, the field executive, will speak; short talks by the Scouts on the life of Roosevelt; Scouting stunts, contests, camp songs, yells, etc.

You are asked to attend if possible as nothing is so essential as the support of the parents.

R. C. MANWARING,

Acting Scoutmaster.

At the last meeting of the Coronado Scouts, plans for the parent's night were made as much as possible.

Mr. Wolf and Mr. Flascher of the San Diego Scout Council, as well as Mr. Barley, if possible will be present.

Numerous committees were appointed for the coming meeting. After the election of a new yell leader, Seymour Owens, the Scouts had a game and were dismissed.

It was also decided that the Coronado troop will challenge a San Diego troop in a trooping contest which will be held next month.

Louis Millen, Troop Scribe.

Grammar School Notes

The school orchestra is getting along nicely under the leadership of Miss Vandercook. Those who have joined are Jean Trathen, Richard Myer, Alfred Laing, Tommie Wilson, Ruth Costello, Raphael Huerta, Pauline Thomson and Elzada Davis.

The classes in beginning violin are now meeting regularly twice a week with Mr. Pickering. Miss Vandercook is assisting him with the work. There are now twenty two in these classes.

Mr. A. W. Bush, president of the board of school trustees is offering a money prize to stimulate better art application on the part of pupils in the public school. The following are the rules for the contest; contest open to any pupil from the fourth grade through the eighth:

|                                             | Points |

| Total .....                                 | 100    |

Every contestant must submit in finished form at least ten plates or exercises in order to compete in the contest. The judging will be done at the time of the annual school exhibit.

The enrollment for the month of September, just closed, was 288 boys and 255 girls; total 543. This is an increase of 42 over last year at this time. The attendance is excellent; the percent for last month was 98.

High Shool Defeats All-Stars By 6-0

An enthusiastic crowd gathered at the Polo grounds Wednesday afternoon to witness the hard fought contest between the local high and the Coronado All Stars, and saw the latter go down to defeat at the hands of the High School boys to the score of 6-0.

The only score in the game was made near the end of the second quarter. The High School boys through a series of passes carried the ball to the All-Stars' three yard line and a line plunge by McCreery, star half-back for the High School put the ball over the line for the lone score of the game. The try for goal failed.

Earlier in the game the All-Stars carried the High School boys off their feet and had the ball dangerously near the goal line, when one of the substitutes for the all star team became over-excited and ran out on the field, and were never again close to the goal line. Pete Glyn was the outstanding figure on the all star team, his line plunging and clever forward passes gaining many yards for the old timers.

Tuesday afternoon the High School students held a parade through the business district carrying with them a coffin marked "All-Stars" and after the parade held appropriate funeral services.

High School Notes

Last Friday we whipped Escondido soundly on their own grounds to the tune of 46-0. However, they took it sportingly and gave us a fine supper after the game. Next Friday we will play the decisive game of the conference with Sweetwater at Sweetwater. They beat us here but since then the Coronado eleven has picked up the necessary "pep and punch" and make it all up. We hope the people of Coronado will turn out to see them do it.

The Girls Club has been working day and night for the past two weeks in order to put on their annual "High Jinks" 'on Friday the second, of November. Afterwards there will be dancing and the whole program promises to be a huge success.

Thursday and Friday we receive the reward of our labor, or rather the reward of our merit system. Those obtaining seven merits are excused from the quarterly examinations and as these examinations take place on Thursday and Friday the lucky ones were given a two day vacation.

There was no student-body meeting because of the examinations on Thursday.

Our brilliant (brains as well as sweaters) Senior class is starting a school paper. With the co-operation of the whole school we hope to make it a worth while installment to our institution.

Boy Scout Notes

By the Scout Scribe

The Coronado Scouts' last meeting was Parents' night, held at the Scout Hut on the bay front. The parents and friends of all of the scouts were invited, and many were present, including Mr. Taylor of Coronado and Mr. Wolf, the field executive, from San Diego.

A campfire program was given by the scouts. Mr. Wolf gave an interesting talk on the Boy Scouts, explaining to the parents what they are and what they stand for. Short talks on the life of Roosevelt were given, including an excellent one by George Rogers.

The scouts also sang camp songs, gave scout yells, stunts and contests.

Light refreshments were served to both parents and scouts. Mr. Taylor spoke, and put the finishing touches to the meeting which was of interest and enjoyed by all.

CORONADO INDOOR LEAGUE

The Coronado Sunday School Indoor League has resumed activities. The first game will be played next Saturday, when the Presbyterians play the Christian Science team, on the school grounds.

A meeting was held Tuesday evening in the High School, where the different Sunday Schools were represented by the following boys: Presbyterian, Maurice Rodgers and Theodore Hopper; Christian Science, Louis Millen; Episcopalian, Arthur Holmes.

At the meeting, where the president-elect of the league, Louis Millen, took the chair, it was decided that as only three Sunday Schools were represented those three will play and no other Sunday Schools will be allowed to play at present. At the meeting a schedule was decided upon, umpires were selected, and rules agreed upon.

High School Notes

Last week ended the first quarter of school and the Merit System, which has been initiated, has proved to be a great success. It has not only raised the percentage of attendance and checked tardiness but has offered a big inducement for good scholarship. Anyone receiving seven merits or more is exempt from all examinations. For the first quarter the Senior class leads the list by having both the highest percent of class membership in the honor society. All the pupils receiving eight or more merits will form the honor society. This society will be entertained by the faculty. The standing of the classes is as follows: Seniors 68.12%, Juniors 65.77%, Sophomores 65.44%, Freshmen 58.04%. Three students received ten merits, the largest number that can be awarded, they are Martha Farnum, Cynthia Stanton and Dorothy Allen. Jeanne Weir received nine merits. The following students received eight merits, Nelle Anderson, Catherine Crose, Evelyn Holliday, Arthur Jessup, Marwood Konald, Eleanor Reynolds, Viola Tatum, Maurice Rogers, Barrod Anderson, Frank Blackman, Gladys Craft, Ruth Garreson, Virginia Jeffries, Bill McCreery, Al Newcomb, Junior Zahn Keneith Bandel, Walston Brown, Thomas Finley, Richard Goodbody, Edith Jessop, Mona Norris, Beatrice Kanklin, James Smith, Gertrude Tammany, Vera Ukineskey, Katherine Welsh, Rosamond Snyder, Elena Whitey, Laura Whitey, Jacinata Cota, Irene Dezatell and Edith Laing. Of the honor society ten are Seniors, seven Juniors, eleven Sophomores, and eight Freshmen.

In football Coronado High has not been successful. Last Friday we played Sweetwater on their field. The score was 7-6 in their favor. Coronado has lost the championship of the county but intends to get second place if possible. Grossmont High is also out for second place so Coronado expects a hard battle this coming Friday. The game will be played on the Polo grounds, Coronado.

The Girls Club Jinx last Friday night was a success, not only as a splendid performance, but also financially. The receipts so far show about sixty-five dollars. The Girls Club certainly appreciates the support of Coronado people and hope they will turn out for all the High School performances.

Boy Scout Notes

At the last meeting of the Coronado Scouts, election for three troop offices was held, as the former officers were holding more than one office, which is not permissible in the troop. The new officers are, Cecil Phillips, Bicycle Patrol Leader; Walston Brown, Troop Custodian; Alfred Laing, Yell leader.

On Wednesday evening the Bicycle Patrol met at the High School, after which they held formation practice, under the supervision of Cecil Phillips and Hubert Craft, leaders. At eight o'clock the Scouts were received at the residence of Mr. C. S. Holzwasser where Father Murdock gave a talk on the Red Cross Drive, asking the co-operation of the Coro-

The cast of "Merely Mary Ann" is working hard on the school play. They hope to have it ready to be put on by the end of November. More will be written about this later.

The orchestra is also getting in splendid shape. Much to the delight of most of the members. They are learning to play jazz. Coronado has quite a treat in store for it.

The assembly was given a treat Thursday morning by Ruth Ingle. She told the story of Adam and Eve. It was told as if to an audience of small children. Ruth Ingle is a newcomer to Coronado but she has shown she has a great deal of ability. Her rendering of the story was artistically and dramatically done. Coronado is very glad to have so talented a new student.

HI-Y CLUB

Some of the details of the last meeting were omitted so we are adding them here. They are, we believe of interest to the people, as the citizens have shown so much interest in the past in the school affairs.

As this is a non-sectarian organization, and to keep that impression we have decided to alternate our meeting places as much as possible, consequently we meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month at the different churches and members' houses. Our next meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church. It has been suggested that we start a glee club of our wonderful singers, and a brass band. Both Glee Club and band will have a place in the forthcoming High School vaud-a-ville program.

There are no dues to the club, but the gigantic sum of "two bits" is the entrance fee for new members. (We hope there will be a lot of them, as an interesting initiation is guaranteed). Hi-Y application blanks may be obtained from Bill McCreery.

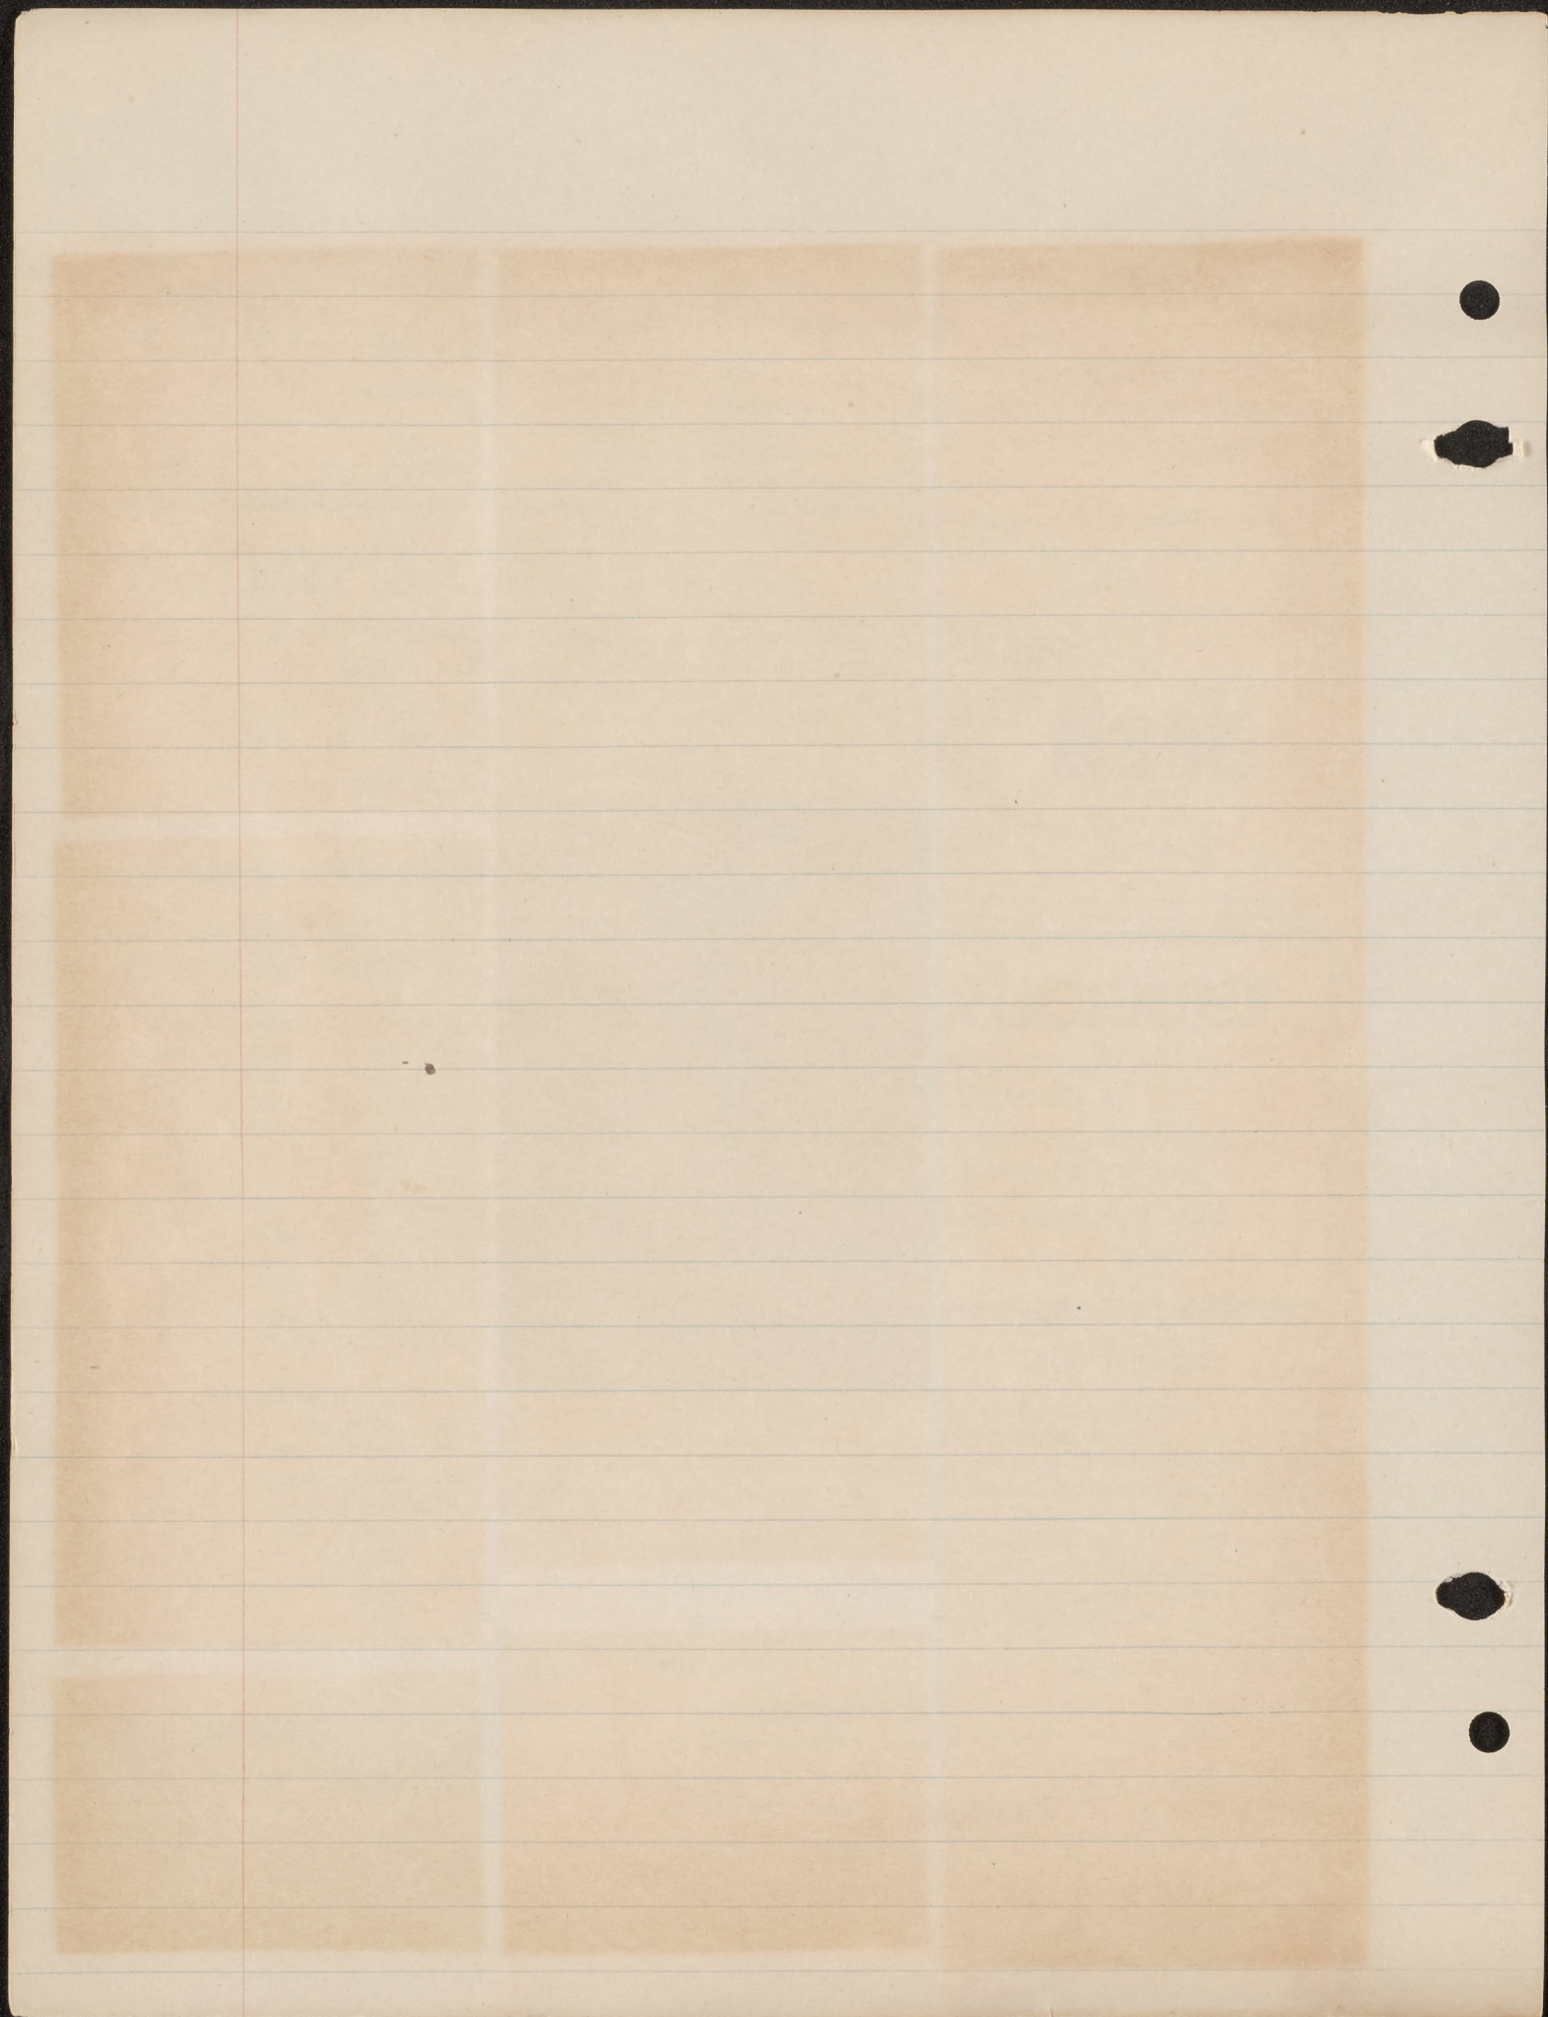

The members will have an opportunity to visit Pomona, November 30, for the week end as guests of the Pomona Hi-Y club, where the annual conference is to be held. Transportation, "grub" and a bed for the trip will be provided for two dollars.

At our last meeting one of the major topics was "Purpose," the purpose of the Hi-Y club, in which all the members gave their ideas.

William McCreery, our president, appointed the following committees: Program, Arthur Jessop, Allen Campbell and Robert Hemming. High School vaudaville, Maurice Rodgers, Arthur Holmes, and Al Newcombe. Entertainment, Robert Heilman, Allen Nicol and Wesley Burge. Annual editor, Arthur Holmes. Publicity, Louis Millen.

The boys on the committees, as well as Mr. Cutler of the High School and the Rev. Nottley S. Hammack were present.

All Stars Will Play High School Nov. 21st

The annual football game between the Coronado All Stars and the Coronado High School will be played at the Polo Grounds Wednesday afternoon, November 21st at 2:30 o'clock.

In the lineup of the Coronado All Stars will be found business men of Coronado who are "has beens" in the football world, the majority of whom have been out of the game for a number of years. The squad which includes a few of last year's high school players is as follows:

Half backs: E. Alcaraz, Gardner Kendall, Al Chenoweth and Ensign Logan. Guards: Edgar E. Webb and Charles Sawyer. Tackles: Leslie Young, Mike Verduco and Mark Madden. Ends: Jack Alcaraz (Capt.), Jimmy Lyons and Percy Corrin. Centers: Cecil Rhodes and Norman Strumm. Quarter backs: W. C. Moeser and George Calhoun. Full back: Pete Glyn, (manager), Eugene Estoppey, tackle, T. Cole guard.

The team's colors are "black and blue."

The fact that both teams have been going through hard practice for the past two weeks is an indication that a hard fought contest will be played. The all stars are certain of regaining their good reputation as football players, which the High School boys took from them last year with a score of 27 to 7, while the High School boys state that it will be an easy matter to beat the "old men."

Mr. W. E. Harper, President of the Board of Trustees will in all probabilities open the game by making the first kick-off. A band will be on hand to furnish entertainment for the spectators between half and quarters and also will play appropriate funeral marches, etc., as some of the old timers are being carried off the field. The city ambulance and a corps of doctors and nurses will also be present to render such assistance as the "has beens" may require.

A nominal admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged, and the proceeds will be turned over to the high school athletic fund.

If you are in line to have a good laugh, and want to see what a bunch of youngsters can do to some old men who think they can still play football turn out and see the game.

"Merely Mary Ann" To Be Given By H. S.

"Merely Mary Ann" is the play chosen for presentation by the student body, the cast being recruited from all classes of the school. This clever comedy by Israel Zangwill has no dull moments, but tells its tender story in fast moving, sparkling lines. Elaborate plans for its production under Mrs. Cutler's direction are being perfected. The large cast of nineteen characters carefully chosen and trained for their roles, furnishes a diverting variety of impersonations. We believe that many people who ignore these amateur productions of our school miss more than they realize. We have professional equipment in lighting and scenic effects, large comfortable seats, every seat a good one, fine acoustics, all contributing to make our little theatre a place of comfort, refinement and delight. To be sure our performers lack professional experience but they more than make up for this deficiency in youthful charm and enthusiasm. Indeed many of our patrons have repeatedly told us that they enjoy our plays more than those by professional actors.

Our beautiful new window draperies and draft curtains for the foyer, now being made by the Bledsoe Company, will be in place for this occasion, greatly enhancing the beauty and comfort of the theatre.

May we invite you to spend an evening right here in Coronado's lovely civic theatre, where youth and joy are paramount? You will delight to follow the fortunes of poor little Mary Ann, that Dickensian character as portrayed by youth and talent in the personality of Miss Inez Cridge. You can't afford to miss it. Watch for the date to be announced soon.

INDOOR BASEBALL LEAGUE

The Coronado Indoor Baseball League played its first game of the season last Saturday. The Christian Science team played the Presbyterians, the latter winning by the score of 13 to 10. Both teams played a good game, but as it was their first game of the season, both need practice.

The next games are to be played

Boy Scout Notes

The Coronado Scouts have been aiding the local Red Cross drive during the last week. We are glad to be able to state that our troop is one hundred percent perfect in the Red Cross this year. Every scout was signed up within two or three days. The Scouts also acted as escorts to the Red Cross speakers at the Silver Strand theatre, who were aiding the drive.

On Armistice Day the Coronado Scouts had a bicycle troop, riding in the Armistice Day parade. This is the first time in the San Diego Scout Council's history that a complete troop has been mounted on bicycles in a parade.

HI-Y CLUB

Last Tuesday evening the Coronado Hi-Y club met at the Presbyterian church where the boys enjoyed supper. Mr. Melvin, of the San Diego Y. M. C. A. spoke to us and helped in our discussion topics of the evening, which concerned mainly about father and son, as this is Father and Son Week. Some of the interesting topics were, "What a Boy Owes His Father," "What a Father Expects of His Son," and "Are a Father's Expectations fulfilled?" as well as many similar topics in which the boys had an interesting discussion. The constitution of the club was changed on a subject concerning our pins. There also was a discussion about the club registration, which will be seventy-five cents including the cost of the club pin.

The boys also discussed the coming Hi-Y convention, which is to be held at Pomona, Nov. 30-Dec. 2, as well as a Hi-Y leaders meeting which will be at the San Diego Y. M. C. A. building next Monday evening, at which we were invited to put on a stunt.

on the school grounds, next Saturday where the Catholic team will meet the Christian Scientists at 9 o'clock and at 10:30 the Episcopal team will play the Presbyterians.

Present standing of the teams:

Fathers and Sons Plan Get-Together Dinner

Coronado boys and their fathers are looking forward to a great dinner and get-together next Friday evening, November 23d at 6:30 p. m. at the Methodist Church. Father and Son Day is the idea of the Y. M. C. A. and is being observed all over the country. The Coronado dinner is being handled by churches of the city and the County Y. M. C. A. The "sons" will range from the small boys to grown men, while many of the "fathers" who cannot supply boys of their own will be there with borrowed boys. Entertainment will be provided by both fathers and sons although the fathers are expected to treat the sons to the dinner. Plates are fifty cents each.

Among the visitors to Coronado during the past week was Miss Vera Tipton of Bakersfield who motored down from that city to visit Miss Ruth Linder. Miss Tipton is well known in Coronado having made many friends during the time she taught at the Coronado Grammar school.

Work in Oral English

"So Noan and his family lived happily ever after." What's that—you say it sounds like a Bible story? Well, I'll tell you a secret—it is and it all happens in the Oral English classes. But I'll not tell you anymore. I'll just let you drop around and drift back to your childhood and bedtime story days again along with us.

Improvement of School

One really has no idea of how much a few trees and flowers and a bit of grass adds to the appearance of a building. But to give you an idea of how it does look, just come around and see how much improved the school grounds are.

Funeral of All Stars

Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock the funeral of the Coronado "All Stars" was celebrated. Yes, we of Coronado High mean celebrated with capital letters. The school orchestra enthroned on a truck and led by Conductor Art Holmes played such doleful hymns as "I Love Me," "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean" and others.

Immediately following the orchestra were the remains of the "All Stars" borne and escorted by sorrowing seniors. Following the services an impromptu dance was held in front of the Strand theatre. Tickets to the game were sold during intermissions.

Educational Week

This being educational week the English students, under the direction of Miss Baumgartner, are presenting a series of readings and papers on the subject of education.

Domestic Science

Sniff! Sniff! Well, I wonder? Ah! I see now! Maybe you don't think that the "sweet essence" of creamed chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, fresh peas and all the other lovely things, smell good to us poor starving souls who have to stay outside and hear about the "lovely things to eat we are having" from the cooking class.

Since football season is over now,

At the last meeting of the Coronado Scouts began plans for a short stunt which they put on last evening at the Father and Son banquet held at the Methodist church, as well as other business which was brought up. The Scouts also played some exciting outdoor games as well as making arrangements for the Scout Jamboree which is to be held at the Indian Village soon.

The bicycle patrol went on a camping trip over last week end to Doby Falls. A group of the Scouts who explored the surrounding country, while on the trip were Scouts Phillips, Craft, C. Soderbery, Beachley and R. Soderbery.

HI-Y NOTES

Last Tuesday evening the Coronado Hi-Y boys met at the Methodist Church. Here discussion was held on several topics, as well as making preparations for a stunt which the boys are to put on at the High School Vaud-a-ville in a month or so. Rev. Jenkins, of the Methodist Church, gave the boys an interesting talk.

As the Hi-Y convention of Southern California is over this week end the boys are making preparations for the trip to Pomona. The convention this year promises to be the best ever held, where the many Hi-Y clubs will do many things, hear many prominent speakers, and have an all round good time.

The boys who intend to make the trip are, William McCreery, Arthur Holmes, Allen Nicol, James McCreery and Allan Campbell.

the boys have started in on basketball. As the courts are badly in need of repairing it is the duty of the Freshmen to fix it up. They have been quite faithful about it and a dandy court will soon be had.

INDOOR LEAGUE

By Louis Millen

One of the closest games ever played in the Coronado Sunday School Indoor Baseball League was won by the Catholic team last Saturday morning when they won from the Christian Science team by the score of 17 to 15. After see-sawing back and forth, with hard fighting on the part of both teams, the eighth inning ended with the score a tie, 13 to 13. In the first half of the ninth inning the Catholics made a fighting effort to score but without avail. The Christian Science team also made a hard effort to score a winning run, but without success, though one of their boys reached as far as third base. Then in the tenth inning the Catholics chalked up four runs, but the Christian Scientists scored only two, giving the Catholics a win by the score of 17 to 15. Both teams showed a remarkable improvement over last season's league.

The Presbyterians were scheduled to play the Episcopalians Saturday also, but as most of the latter's players did not show up, the game was forfeited to the Presbyterians, putting them on top of the list, with one win and one forfeit in their favor. The Catholics are second with one win, the Episcopalians third, with a forfeit against them. Last are the Christian Scientists with two loses, but they are undaunted as both were good games with close scores, and will play the Methodists this morning with more 'pep' than ever. The Catholics are also scheduled to play the Presbyterians at 10:30.

A meeting was held Tuesday noon at the High School where it was decided that each Sunday School team should 'chip in' and buy a perpetual banner for the winners of the league. After winning the banner three times a Sunday School team may keep it.

At the last meeting of the Coronado troop, patrol meetings were held, at the campfire, Howard Needham and Louis Millen were presented with second class badges by Scoutmaster Manwaring. After discussion on numerous subjects at the campfire, Scout Hathaway entertained the Scouts with a miniature 'movie.' Final arrangements were made for the Scout Jamboree, which was held last night at the Indian Village, where the Coronado Scouts gave a comedy act as well as other stunts.

The patrol leaders were pleasantly surprised when Scoutmaster Manwaring invited them to his birthday luncheon, held at the La Parisienne Cafe, Wednesday afternoon, where the boys enjoyed a nice lunch. Those present were Scouts Rogers, Jessop, Heilman, Brown, Kittelle, S. Owens and Millen.

Prompt Action By Fire Dept. Saves Home

At six o'clock a. m. last Tuesday a fire occurred in the residence owned by Julius Boudien and occupied by G. Clermet. Prompt action on the part of the Coronado Fire Department extinguished the blaze before it had gained much headway. The damage is estimated at about $250. The fire was caused by failure to turn off an electric iron the night before.

Auto Accident Occurs On Orange Avenue

An automobile accident, which by a seeming miracle, injured no one, occurred at the intersection of Orange Avenue and Ninth street last Tuesday afternoon. A Cleveland Coupe driven by Mrs. Grace Whitney collided with a Ford touring car driven by Robert A. McCreery. The Cleveland was uninjured but the Ford suffered a shattered wind shield, a pair of badly twisted axels and a rear tire torn off. Mrs. Whitney resides at 546 E Ave., Coronado and Mr. McCreery, who is a resident of Morgantown, West Virginia, is here on a visit to his son Frank D. McCreery of Coronado. It was stated that the accident was apparently not the fault of either party, but one of those mishaps, which the heavy automobile traffic makes unavoidable every so often.

INDOOR LEAGUE

Last Saturday morning the Methodists played the Christian Science team in an incomplete game which is not to be counted in the Sunday School League, as both teams desire to play a full game which is to be played in a few weeks. Caused by delays this game was begun late and as the Presbyterians were scheduled to play the Catholics at 10:30, which they did, the time was up before the end of the fifth inning. In the Presbyterian-Catholic game the latter won by the score of 17 to 7. Today the Catholics play the Methodists at 9:30 and the Episcopalians play the Christian Science team at 1:30 p. m.

Judge Anthony Dies After Brief Illness

After an illness of only a very short time, Judge R. S. Anthony passed away at his home, 740 B Avenue, on Wednesday. Judge Anthony's death comes as a severe shock to his many friends in Coronado and San Diego, as he was apparently in the best of health until shortly before his death.

Judge Anthony is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kate Anthony and a sister, Mrs. Sallie Means of Springfield, Missouri.

He was born at Russellville, Kentucky on the second day of July, 1857, being sixty five years of age at the time of his death. As a young man he moved to Springfield, Missouri, later moving into Oklahoma at the time of the opening of the Cherokee Strip. Later he returned to Springfield and engaged in the wholesale flour business there, until 1912 when he came to San Diego. In 1913 he moved to Coronado, where he resided until the time of his death. During his residence here, although interested in several different enterprises, he never was actively engaged in business. The judge was a familiar and much beloved figure in Coronado and his passing is sincerely mourned by everyone who knew him.

The funeral services were held at the chapel of Johnson-Saum Company of San Diego on Tuesday, November 29th and the body was interred in Greenwood Memorial Park.

High School Will Give Play December 14th

The largest cast ever used in Coronado High School dramatic activities is busy pounding into shape the new offering, "Merely Mary Ann," clever comedy of that brilliant story teller Israel Zangwill. The production is timely in that the famous English author is at present in this country and is the subject of wide press comment. The students who will impersonate the variety of life-like characters of the play have given long study and faithful work to perfecting their roles. Each fits his or her part astonishingly well and each has had the benefit of personal coaching. Furnishings, draperies, rugs, etc., for the production, are supplied by courtesy of the Bledsoe Co. of San Diego. The three settings of the play are the work of our manual training department with the addition of professional touches by the Spreckels theatre staff of craftsmen. We have considered no detail too trivial in our endeavor to make this play the best yet. We do not bore our audiences. Our young thespians are thoroughly trained in the technique of acting, that most difficult of the arts, before they are presented for your approval. What they lack in experience is made up in their own very evident joy in their work. If you love the drama, will you support it in your own town? If you love youth, can you stay away when it treads the boards behind the footlights of our own little gem of a play house? If you profess to sanction that marvelous phenomenon of present day American life, the little theatre movement, this is your chance to show your allegiance.

We want a packed house—not so much for the money to be earned—but because we need your love and interest and your support in the task that we have undertaken, namely the training of your boys and girls into better Americans through the medium of participation in this greatest of the fine arts.

The proceeds (a minor consideration) are to be used to support athletics and all student body activities which would be impossible for our school without this revenue. The play will be given December 14th.

While the general aspect of the great Japanese earthquake has been covered from almost every angle, by the newspapers and magazines, there yet remains many thrilling tales of personal experiences to be told and perhaps none more interesting than that of Lieutenant and Mrs. H. C. Davis of 977 G Avenue, Coronado.

On the morning of September first, the day of the earthquake, the Lieutenant and his wife went into Yokahama intending to take luncheon with a famous Japanese family. They were to be a program of vaudeville acts, from 3 to 4:30 o'clock there were three motion pictures of six or seven reels and which will run until 7 o'clock with the showing of a big variety performance will start at 8 o'clock. The new arrangements for the evening until 11:30 o'clock at night. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon and a continuous performance started. The escape of both the Lieutenant and his wife, uninjured, is all the more astounding, when it is taken into consideration that they were in different parts of the hotel at the time of the earthquake, and that out of an estimated number of two hundred and fifty guests only eighteen escaped. Among those who lost their lives in it was Captain McDonald, U. S. N. retired, who owned the hotel.

By the time the lieutenant had found his wife the whole city of Yokohama was beginning to burn and they were faced with the problem of escaping from it. Many people saved themselves by wading into the harbor, but on account of the blazing oil from wrecked tanks on the shore, floating here and there, this was a dangerous expedient, so they elected to attempt to leave the city by way of the bluff, a roadway leading around the harbor. They were successful in their attempt and slept that night on the sea shore in the out-for any other relief demanded in the Complaint.

Given under my hand and seal of the Superior Court of the County of San Diego, this 29th day of Sept. 1923.

Mrs. Davis says that one of the most noteworthy facts in connection with this terrible disaster, that is insofar as the foreign residents were concerned, was that in all instances where Japanese servants were employed to take care of foreign children, they remained faithful and by their bravery and devotion rescued them, where otherwise in many instances they would have been lost.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Davis went to Tokio from Kama Kura, where they remained for three weeks, at the expiration of which time the Lieutenant was transferred to the destroyer base at San Diego.

Both the Lieutenant and his wife are emphatic in their expressions of relief at leaving Japan, as earthquakes are still occurring there at frequent intervals. A letter from Lieutenant Commander Ellis M. Zacharias attached to the U. S. Embassy, written October 31st, states that the quakes are still so severe, that they can still be felt on the ships stationed in the harbor, and late cable news of Nov. 27th, states that they are still causing serious trouble.

The new members of the faculty—Miss Mercedes Pearce and Coach A. E. Schaefer, have been heartily welcomed and are now "one of us".

"Off in a cloud of dust"—that's Coronado High this year; or, in more comprehensive English, every phase of activity in the school has taken a decidedly spirited start this semester.

The Girl Reserve Dance held Friday evening in the Grammar School Auditorium as a Florida benefit entertainment, was a decided success. Many attended this first dance of the semester.

The new Student body executives are Michael Goodbody, President; Edith Laing, Vice President; Dorothy Allen, Secretary; Jack Kaufman, Treasurer; Ward Beachley, Stage Manager; Lewis LeRoy, Electrician; Cecil Phillips, General Manager of Athletics; and Al Reid, Yell Leader.

The girls' volley-ball teams, under the supervision of Miss Pearce, are maintaining daily practice, which is exceedingly "snappy", for the girls are carrying their part of the "real spirit" program over in great form.

Work on the Senior Play, "The Goose Hangs High", is now under way, supervised by Clara Bell Cutler, dramatic instructor.

The green and white easily made up for the Brawley defeat, when, in the first county league football game of the season, Coronado Hi pounded Point Loma, 28 to 6. All the members of the squad battled like Trojans and commenced the season in splendid form. Metcalfe, Thompson and Bell were the outstanding players. Anderson and McLean played throughout the entire game for Coronado.

The word "spirit" is prominent throughout the above paragraphs, for it indeed is real spirit that is the keynote of Coronado High this season.

As a Senior, it is with much pleasure that I make this statement, for during the past three years that I have been privileged to attend C. H. S., no school semester has commenced with the genuine spirit that is now prevalent.

Our only hope is that this spirit will be maintained throughout the year—and we believe that it will for the standards of the Student body are high, and Mr. J. Leslie Cutler, our principal and sincere friend, will co-operate with us.

Under Coach Schaefer the football aspirants have shown real spirit and the football outlook this year is indeed favorable, although Coronado received a 13 to 0 defeat before the Brawley High School squad a week ago Saturday in a pre-season practice combat.

Undoubtedly Coronado is a very desirable place in which to live. The members of the football eleven realized this fact more than ever before when they battled on the Brawley grid-iron. Reason: temperature about 110 degrees in the shade. One Coronado player and four Brawley men collapsed and were carried from the field.

Metcalfe, Thompson and Ryan starred for Coronado, but they were unsuccessful in carrying the ball over the line.

—Louis Millen.

P. S.: Have you noticed several very foolish and idiotic appearing youngsters wearing green skull caps, on our local streets, alleys and by-ways recently?

Well, they are our pea-greens. Much as we desire to disown them, it is apparent that such is impossible, so we have requested that they wear green "lids" to distinguish them from the rest of the human race. (Fact is, we had to "cap" them to keep the sawdust from escaping.)

Coach Schaefer has worked hard to produce a "champ" team and the players have shown good sportsmanship, spirit and sincere effort. May they win the championship if they deserve it.

You are cordially invited to an evening's entertainment to be presented by the dramatic students of Coronado High School under Mrs. Clara Bell Cutler. The entertainment will be given Friday, October fifteenth at the High School Theatre.

No admission will be charged. The entertainment is for you. It will consist of three one act plays: "Finders Keepers", "Sweet and Twenty", and "Maniken and Minnikin", interspersed with music and solo dancing. The theatre doors will open at seven-fifteen. We welcome you.

The pea-greens were officially initiated last Wednesday. The Sophomore class supervised the entertainment which was held in the High School Theatre for the benefit of the entire school. Probably the best numbers of the program were, a would-be boxing bout in which "Fuzzy" Ryan and Alan Laing, blind-folded, "fought it out" (?); a demonstration by Juanita Boyton (she'll tell you about it, maybe); and a number in which "our celebrated stage beauty", Esther Earle, was "cosmeticized" by Ray Alcaraz. (Note: Most of the Freshmen survived the castor-oil doses given out so liberally by the "sophs".)

The Junior Class has already distinguished itself this semester by claiming the honor of being the first class to pay its Student body dues.

The Girls' Volleyball squad battled with La Jolla in a series of practice tilts last Thursday. La Jolla defeated Captain Beatrice Blaisdell's Coronado first team two out of three games: 13-15, 15-13, 15-7. Coronado's second team staged a come-back, however, and won two out of three games from the La Jollans. Jean Trathen starred for the local Green and White. Coronado's spirited co-operation in last week's practice games should stand the teams in good stead for the coming volleyball season.

Jap Quake Experiences Told By Naval Officer

While the general aspect of the great Japanese earthquake has been covered from almost every angle, by the newspapers and magazines, there yet remains many thrilling tales of personal experiences to be told and perhaps none more interesting than that of Lieutenant and Mrs. H. C. Davis of 977 G Avenue, Coronado.

At the time of the earthquake Lieutenant Davis had been residing in Japan for three years in the official capacity of Naval Attache on the staff of the United States Ambassador. He was also pursuing the study of the Japanese language, which he speaks and writes fluently. Like most of the foreign residents of Yokohama, Lieutenant and Mrs. Davis resided at Kama Kura, a sea-side resort, thirty miles from Yokohama, during the summer months.

On the morning of September first, the day of the earthquake, the Lieutenant and his wife went into Yokohama intending to take luncheon with friends at the Grand Hotel, one of the two leading hotels of that city. Arriving at Yokohama, they parted to attend to individual errands, with the understanding that they were to meet in the lobby of the Grand Hotel at 12:15 p. m.

At about fifteen minutes of twelve Lieutenant Davis went into the hotel barber shop, which was situated in the basement and sat down in a chair to get a shave. At about three minutes of twelve Mrs. Davis entered the lobby. About a minute thereafter, the quake, which occurred at 11:58 a. m. began.

Upon feeling the first tremor, Mrs. Davis instinctively ran toward the entrance and then remembering that her husband might be in the hotel, turned about, intending to seek him, when she was prevented by some man who again directed her toward the door. At this moment the hotel toppled above them and both were buried in the ruins. Fortunately, neither Mrs. Davis or this man, whose name she never learned, were injured and the man was able to dig both himself and Mrs. Davis out of the ruins. He then escorted her to the sea wall in front of the hotel, leaving her in this place of comparative safety, while he returned to the work of rescue, and she was never able to learn his name.

While this was occurring to Mrs. Davis, the Lieutenant was going through an even more harrowing experience and had an even more miraculous escape. When the first tremor came he was sitting in a barber chair. Twenty seconds later he was lying twenty feet away in a corner of the room, with the whole of the wreckage of the hotel, (a four story building, lying over him, for it was within that space of time that the hotel was transformed from a fine, modern building into a mass of wreckage lying absolutely flat on the ground. Through some strange working of fate, the Lieutenant was absolutely uninjured and within half an hour managed to crawl out through a hole in the roof. By that time the wreckage was on fire, and in a short time was a mass of flames.

While Lieutenant Davis was extricating himself, his wife was fortunate enough to meet some friends who went to the hotel to search for her husband and through more good fortune, they found him and brought him to where his wife awaited him.

The escape of both the Lieutenant and his wife, uninjured, is all the more astounding, when it is taken into consideration that they were in different parts of the hotel at the time of the earthquake, and that out of an estimated number of two hundred and fifty guests only eighteen escaped. Among those who lost their lives in it was Captain McDonald, U. S. N. retired, who owned the hotel.

By the time the lieutenant had found his wife the whole city of Yokohama was beginning to burn and they were faced with the problem of escaping from it. Many people saved themselves by wading into the harbor, but on account of the blazing oil from wrecked tanks on the shore, floating here and there, this was a dangerous expedient, so they elected to attempt to leave the city by way of the bluff, a roadway leading around the harbor. They were successful in their attempt and slept that night on the sea shore in the outskirts of the city.

The next day they walked across the mountains to Kama Kura, hoping to find it outside of the quake area. During this trip they found all bridges tunnels and many of the roads destroyed and the tremors continued to occur at frequent intervals, often-times so powerful that they were forced to sit down until abated in violence. They arrived at Kama that evening, having had nothing to eat for two days.

They were disappointed in their expectation that Kama Kura might be intact, as approximately five sixths of the city was in ruins, having been visited, not only by the earthquake, but also by a tidal wave and fire. They found their home a mass of ruins, it having suffered from all three disasters. Practically all of their clothing and household belongings were lost. All that was salvaged was a few pieces of silverware including a silver candle stick and a silver cigarette box, both bent and indented from being struck by some object. These they intend to keep in their present state as mementos of the quake.

It is interesting to note, that the great bronze statue of Buddha, the largest in the world, located at Kama Kura, which successfully withstood the great tidal wave which occurred there some thirty years ago, was uninjured by the present disaster. This of course greatly enhances the veneration in which it is held by the natives.

Lieutenant Davis says that the scenes of suffering witnessed by himself and wife were almost unbelievable and that in one section of Tokio, thirty five thousand people, who had taken refuge in an open space, to escape the falling walls were burned to death.

A picture of this horrible occurrence can be more vividly brought to mind by realizing the fact, that that number represents approximately one third of the population of a city the size of San Diego.

Mrs. Davis says that one of the most noteworthy facts in connection with this terrible disaster, that is insofar as the foreign residents were concerned, was that in all instances where Japanese servants were employed to take care of foreign children, they remained faithful and by their bravery and devotion rescued them, where otherwise in many instances they would have been lost.

For five nights, after their return to Kama Kura the lieutenant and his wife slept on the ground out of doors and in order to minimize danger of falling into fissures which the continued quakes were constantly opening in the earth, placed long boards beneath them.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Davis went to Tokio from Kama Kura, where they remained for three weeks, at the expiration of which time the Lieutenant was transferred to the destroyer base at San Diego.

Both the Lieutenant and his wife are emphatic in their expressions of relief at leaving Japan, as earthquakes are still occurring there at frequent intervals. A letter from Lieutenant Commander Ellis M. Zacharias attached to the U. S. Embassy, written October 31st, states that the quakes are still so severe, that they can still be felt on the ships stationed in the harbor, and late cable news of Nov. 27th, states that they are still causing serious trouble.

"Finders Keepers", featuring Lewis LeRoy, Edith Laing and Serena Smith; "Sweet and Twenty", played by Constance Halverstadt, Michael Goodbody, Ben Anderson and Robert McLean; and "Mannikin and Minnikin", with John Cory and Betty Jane Buell, were all excellent and the players deserve much credit.

An exquisite solo dance by Elsie Moon and short speeches by Nixy Mathewson, Marjorie Healy, William Messimer and Helm Garo completed the program. The speech by Helm Garo, a native of Hawaii, on "Our Difficult Tongue" was of exceptional interest, as the speaker is one of the thousands or millions who are attempting to master our complicated language. His presentation of the language as he understands it was indeed interesting.

Coronado has retained a clean slate in the County Football League, with three victories and no defeats so far this year. The game last Friday resulted in a 46 to 0 victory over Oceanside.

Coronado, as yet this season, has experienced but one real struggle: the practice battle with St. Augustine last Wednesday afternoon. Both teams secured but one touchdown and both failed to convert for the additional point. Bell made Coronado's only score, while McKinley carried the ball across the line for the Saints' after a Coronado fumble. Coronado battles with Grossmont on the local field Friday afternoon of this week. Grossmont is a leading power of the county league and will give the Green and White strong competition. The game will commence promptly at two thirty. (So far this season the Coronado High grid-iron eleven has rolled up a total of 107 points, in contrast to her opponent's 6.

October 26

The school rejoices in the 10 to 7 victory over Grossmont. Well might the Green and White do so, for it was indeed a genuine case of "nip and tuck."

The savory chicken dinner, offered by local business men to the Coronado players if the Green and White scored in the first quarter, urged the team members to their utmost efforts, but no player of either team crossed a goal line the first period.

Early in the second quarter a seeming catastrophe occurred. Grossmont successfully passed the pigskin and dashed to the Coronado three yard line. Two line plunges and Barnett of Grossmont had scored and Junghans converted. The third quarter opened and Coronado secured three points on a field goal. In a valiant effort to score for Coronado, Green made his field goal from the thirty yard line one of the most beautiful distance drop kicks ever exhibited in a county league game.

Now, kind reader, please open the dates of your imagination while we attempt to present a mental picture:

Place: Coronado Athletic Field.

Date: Friday, October 22, 1926;

Time: A few minutes past 4 p. m.;

Occasion: One of the most crucial moments in the county league football history.

It is the middle of the fourth quarter of the Grossmont-Coronado game with Grossmont leading 7 to 3.

Time out—a Grossmont player is injured. The Grossmont stands are clamouring, "Hold that line! Hold that line!" The Coronado supporters are exerting their utmost vocal ability to the tune of "We want a touchdown! We want a touchdown!"

There are three downs (if you understand football phraseology). Coronado has finally placed the ball on the Grossmont four yard line after a series of line attacks.

As the whistle blows the stands become painfully silent—truly these are tedious—nay, nerve wracking moments. Action:

Goodbody exactly, nervously shouts the signals. The team "shifts" McLean "centers" the ball to Metcalfe. The Grossmont players, expecting a line plunge, concentrate their efforts upon one spot; the Coronado players continue their attempted charge.

All is well, but where is Metcalfe? Sh—he has run around the end and ACROSS!

One more word—RIOT!

If the word of an innocent bystander will be accepted, Grossmont outclassed the local players in team work last Friday, (although the Coronado machine has not worked in its present unified manner for a long time), whereas, the Grossmont practical strategy was lacking, as it was in the Sweetwater-Grossmont game, the former team leading 7 to 0. Grossmont, if it has not the better team, has a squad equal to the best in the county.

Well, the Sweetwater-Coronado conflict, to be played Friday of this week on the local field, will practically decide things. It is predicted, and not unwisely, that this week's game will be a rather warm one. "Warm" is an exceptionally mild word; emphasized "FIGHT" will be a trifle more appropriate.

Robert Soderbery was appointed Assistant School Publicity Manager by the Executive Committee during the past week.

Coronado's "Green and White" are evidently favorite school colors, for both La Jolla and Oceanside have adopted the local hues. As "The Echo" (CHS) comments:

"It is evident that Coronado colors, green and white, are thought very tasteful by various members of the County League, for both Oceanside and La Jolla have been 'cropping out' in football uniforms of emerald and white. Imitation may be the sincerest flattery, but if it is Coronado Hi would rather not have such flattery, for apart from the idea of copying, the sameness causes much confusion on the football field.

"As we were the first school in Southern California to adopt green and white as school colors we have the right to retain them and force the other schools to choose different ones.

"Dorothy Allen, Student Body secretary, has been authorized by the Ex-Committee to write to the Oceanside and La Jolla Student bodies, requesting them to change their colors. We feel certain that our request will be granted, as both schools are noted for their good sportsmanship and fairness."

November 2

The Junior rings and pins have arrived and are now being proudly displayed by members of the class. The rings and pins are exceedingly attractive and of unique pattern—with onyx as a background for the gold front design.

* * *

The Student body is a trifle down at heart and not a little aggravated following the decision that made Sweetwater victorious last Friday afternoon. This week, to make things decidedly more pleasant, most of the students are "cramming" for the Quarterly Exams. Who said trouble doesn't come in clusters?

* * *

The Seniors entertained the Junior Class at the annual Senior-Junior party last Friday evening at the Grammar School. Unique decorations plus plenty of apples and cider gave an atmosphere of Hallowe'en. Popular numbers rendered on banjos by John Messert, fortune telling by Mrs. Jessop, and dancing "by all" constituted the evening's entertainment.

The La Jolla * * * * * Girls Volley Ball Team met the Coronado squad on a local court last week, the visitors winning two practice games, 15-13, 15-8. The first game, as is represented by the score, was close from beginning to end, but the second round the Coronado players lagged and were outclassed.

The Coronado volleyball teams are in good shape this season and are improving steadily, but will have to go some to overcome the La Jolla-ites.

The big game has come and gone—with the result that Coronado received her first defeat of the season when the Sweetwater (Coronado's rival for the pennant for several years) scored a 12 to 7 victory.

Thompson made a spectacular thirty-five yard dash for the Coronado touchdown and gave the local players a 7 to 6 advantage until the middle of the last quarter when Sweetwater scored on a fourth down upon the umpire's decision, which, due to the closeness of play, caused a great deal of controversy. The Green and White made a rally attempt to score in the last minutes of play, but the game ended with the ball in the enemy territory.

The local team proved itself worthy of C. H. S. in Friday's battle, and despite the lost hope for the championship, is maintaining rigid practice in preparation for the last two games of the season, with Escondido and La Jolla, respectively.

The personnell of Coach Schaefer's team is: Metcalfe (Capt.), Greene, Thompson, Lyons, Phillips, Anderson, Bell, McLean, Foote, Ryan, Wegeforth, Nickell, Drury, Goodbody, Yates, Sexton, LeRoy, Gladding, M. Wright, Tatum, D. Wright, Laing, Corrin and Jessop.

November 9

This week has been set aside as National Education Week. The attention of the public is directed toward the schools of America at this time. Special exercises are being arranged for the school assemblies.

Last Wednesday afternoon the Student body visited the Navy Division of Rockwell Field when Navy Day was celebrated. The stunt flights, miniature bombing and target practice, as well as the spectacular parachute jumping constituted the entertainment for a most interesting afternoon on the Island. Later, some of the party was taken aboard the U. S. S. California, where everything (from the boilers to crow's nests) received a critical investigation and examination.

The Sweetwater-Coronado football game held over a week ago on the local field, although resulting in a 12 to 7 victory for the Sweeties, proved for the Student body funds, according to the Student body funds, according to the gate receipt report made by Ticket Auditor Susan Mason early last week. The ticket auditor and staff deserve hearty commendation for their work, which has released the financial strain, (or drain) on the school treasury.

Snappy white sweaters, with green stripes on the left arm and a tennis motif and letter on the right pocket, were awarded last week to the 1926 tennis team which, in June, won the County Tennis Championship. La Jolla and Coronado tied for first honors after successfully eliminating the other title contenders. The "tie play-off" with La Jolla resulted in a victory for the local players. Josephine Bruce, Vera Ukeneskey, Marie Zarahova, Robert Craft and Jack Thompson were the members of the championship team.

Free again! Yes, the quarterly exams are over and most of the students of C. H. S. are breathing more freely once more.

The girls' volleyball squads were scheduled to meet the Oceanside teams last Thursday, but due to some totally unforeseen trouble the northern players were unable to meet the local Green and White team. The game will probably be played some time next month.

A large portion of the Student body visited the Mitchell Gallery of Fine Arts last Thursday, and enjoyed an interesting afternoon and evening viewing the rare collection of paintings which are so wonderfully arranged in the magnificent gallery.

November 16

This season's student body play, "The Goose Hangs High", is rapidly nearing perfection and will probably be presented during the first week of December.

The production in three acts, is one of Lewis Beach's charming plays. The large cast of thirteen members makes an interesting character contrast which Mrs. Cutler, dramatic coach, is working out splendidly.

Coronado High School observed Armistice Day as a holiday, thanks to the school trustees, and viewed the largest Armistice Day Parade in San Diego's history. The local schools were represented in the parade by the Troop 35, Coronado Boy Scouts, and the newly organized troop of Girl Scouts.

Football season is now over and Coach Schaefer is preparing his basketball squads, which are expected to be real title contenders this year.

The football record made by the local players this season is one which will always remain with the history of Coronado High School. One touchdown, and that by an umpire's disputed decision on the fourth down in the last quarter of the Sweetwater-Coronado game with the score 7-6 in the local players' favor, took the county title from the Green and White and placed it in the hands of the Sweeties.

Nevertheless, the Coronado squad retained its high standards of sportsmanship throughout the season and, under the direction of Coach Schaefer, displayed unexcelled fighting spirit. The local team was defeated but once during the season, losing by score of 12 to 7 to the Sweetwater eleven. Coronado secured 6 victories with a total of 181 points, which total is greater than that claimed by any other team in the league. Coronado's opponents secured 44 points. (Sweetwater gathered a total of 136 points, compared to her opponents' 7—Coronado, the only team to pass the Sweetwater goal line.)

The Girls' Reserve is planning a food sale for Saturday of this week. The sale will be held in front of the Safeway Market on Orange Avenue between Ninth and Tenth Streets, and promises many delights for housewives.

For the first time this semester Austin Adams, the school's "old friend", spoke to the assembly last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Adams addressed the assembly on the occasion of National Education Week, and needless to mention, his talk was of great interest and delight to the members of the school.

"The Music of Powder and Patches" was presented in the High School Theatre last Friday evening by Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll Swan and Mrs. Ida Selby Donnell, widely recognized artists. Mrs. Swan displayed her exquisite vocal ability, and was perfectly accompanied by Mrs. Donnell, whose achievements as a pianist and accompanist are well known.

The two artists appeared in period costumes which beautifully harmonized with the delicacy of the music. The entertainment, which was greatly enjoyed by a large number of persons, was sponsored by the Girls League of Coronado Hi.

November 23

The dates for the presentation of "The Goose Hangs High", the student body dramatic production, have definitely been set for Friday and Saturday evenings, December 3 and 4. The play, by Lewis Beach, is an interesting, realistic drama of three acts with a cast of thirteen characters. It insures an evening of delightful enjoyment.

Miss Helene Richards and Austin Adams addressed the assembly Friday morning in the interests of the Red Cross-Community Chest drive. Both speakers explained the utilization of the funds and made an appeal for the co-operation of the High School.

The football squad members were the guests of Coach Schaefer at a theatre-dinner party last Tuesday evening. At the dinner Robert ("Soapy") McLean was elected captain of the 1927 CHS football eleven. Several nominations were made, but McLean was elected almost unanimously.

Basketball will soon be in vogue at Coronado High. Fifty-seven aspirants have responded to Coach Schaefer's call for basketball recruits, and should constitute four strong squads to compete for county honors in the respective A, B, C, and D divisions. Lewis LeRoy, basketball manager, and his "peagreen" squad are rolling the courts daily and should have them in excellent condition before the season opens on January fifteenth. Manager LeRoy's work is to be heartily commended.

Tomorrow evening "Marge" Healy will entertain the football letter-men and their young lady friends at her residence on Glorietta Boulevard. A buffet supper for the party of over sixty guests will be served. The supper will be followed by dancing.

The football players received their letters at Thursday's assembly. The fourteen CHS team members playing the greatest number of quarters were awarded letters by Coach Schaefer. The list included Captain Metcalfe, Anderson (who played a total of 26 quarters), McLean, Bell, Phillips, Ryan, Lyons, Wegforth, Drury, Foote, Nickell, Thompson, Greene and Goodbody. The featured individual of the assembly was Alan Laing who received a mascot's letter amid great applause from the audience. Alan has the honor of being presented with the first football mascot letter ever awarded at Coronado High School.

The La Jolla girls' volleyball-ers overwhelmed the Coronado volleyball "varsity" and second team two out of three games last Thursday afternoon on the local courts; scores, (varsity) 15-12, 15-9; (second team 15-9, 15-9. The local teams put up a worthy battle but were outclassed by the La Jollans. The Coronado teams will probably meet the La Jolla squad on the northern courts tomorrow in return games.

The first picture for the school annual, "The Poppy", was taken recently. The first picture is the inauguration of work on this year's annual edition. The entire staff will probably be announced at the first of the year.

Miss Adrienne ("Pest") Kramer (famed for her appropriate nickname), attempted to walk on air last Thursday, but gravity proved too much for her, so she is now limping about with the aid of a cane. The connecting with Mother Earth was accomplished by a solid thud followed by several additional thuds—in other words Miss "Pest" rolled down a flight of stairs and is the possessor of numerous black and blue spots.

Frances Foster and Aimee Forbes, accompanied by Miss St. Clair, drove to Monrovia Friday morning, where they attended the Girls' League Conference. The girls reported a most enjoyable time and gave a full account of the convention in Monday's assembly.

The Silver Gate Dance held Saturday evening at the Country Club proved to be the most popular dance of the season. Dancing to a wonderful orchestra on a marvelous floor, the record crowd spent an exceedingly enjoyable evening. Delightful refreshments were served and—needless to state—devoured with much satisfaction.

The Girls' Reserve is planning a candy sale to be staged in front of the Silver Strand Theatre, Friday evening of this week from six-thirty until seven o'clock. The girls will feature panache, dainties and fudge. All the candy will be homemade.

"THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH"

Coronado High School announces the presentation of "The Goose Hangs High" as the annual student body dramatic production, on the evenings of Friday and Saturday, December 3 and 4, at eight o'clock in the High School Theatre. The nominal prices for tickets, which may be secured from any member of the student body, are 25 cents, general admission, and 50 cents for reserved seats.

The cast of the sparkling comedy drama of youth problems is to be headed by Ward Beachley, who has played important parts in several Coronado High School productions. The other members of the cast are: Wesley Kelley, Alice Winter, Sally Cutler, Hubert Craft, Susan Mason, Lois Kirchmaier, Barbara Stephenson, David Young, William Messimer, Albert Reid, Frances Foster and Louis Millen. Don't miss this!

The Senior Class emerged victorious in the Inter-class series of basketball games staged last week. In the preliminaries the Juniors crushed the Freshmen by the score of 8 to 1, while the Seniors defeated the Sophomores 14 to 8. In the final combat the teams played "neck and neck" until the last, with the Seniors upsetting "the dope" by conquering the Junior squad 8 to 7.

The local Hi-Y clubs were represented at the annual Older Boys' Conference at Glendale last week-end by Louis Millen (Senior Hi-Y) and Billy Verdon (Junior Hi-Y). The two representatives report a splendid time. Prominent and interesting speakers presented many worthy suggestions for meeting life's problems. These talks were followed by discussion periods in which every delegate took part. All were guests of the Conference at the U. C. of Los Angeles-Iowa Ames football battle, played in the mammoth Los Angeles stadium Saturday afternoon—the Iowa squad scoring a decided victory over U. C.

Girls' Basketball activities will commence next Monday according to an announcement made yesterday by Miss Mercedes Pearce, girls' athletic coach. Much good material is apparent this season and Coronado High School expects to be represented in the County League.

Thanks to the Thanksgiving vacation there is no more to write, as last week's school activities ceased Wednesday evening. Now I may replace my feet on the well worn desk before me and continue to consult the latest football results.

CHRISTMAS PLAY SOON

A Christmas festival and bazaar consisting of a one-act Christmas play, "Let There Be Light", and a beautiful pageant of the Nativity written and staged by Clara Bell Cutler, will be presented to the public Friday evening, December seventeenth.

Christmas music and solo dancing will add to the interest of the program which will be presented in the High School Theatre.

Complete particulars about the entertainment will be announced in the next issue of the Journal.

SCHOOL PLAY PRESENTED

Coronado High School stepped to the fore last Friday and Saturday evenings when the student body play, "The Goose Hangs High", was produced under the very capable supervision of Clara Bell Cutler, dramatic director.

As many members of the pleased audience remarked after the performances, it is "marvelous how Mrs. Cutler does it." The wonderful results which she has secured from "raw material" were certainly climaxed in the production of "The Goose Hangs High", for most of the members of the cast of thirteen players had never before faced an audience from the stage.

Wesley Kelley and Alice Winters were acclaimed wonderful as the parents of three college students, namely, Ward Beachley and Sally Cutler ("the twins"), and Hubert Craft, all of whom very successfully expressed the vim and humor which is essential to a comedy-drama that is not distinguished for its action.

Susan Mason as "Granny", played the part to perfection and brought many a laugh from the audience, as did Al Reid, whose unique make-up and comical laugh greatly appealed to the auditors.

Frances Foster as Dagmar Carroll was beautiful, and performed charmingly. Lois Kirchmaier and David Young as Julia Murdock and Ronald (mother and son), respectively, were indeed splendid.

William Messimer received great applause as Elliott Kimberley, a "beastly", threatening city councilman (!!!???). Barbara Stephenson as Rhoda, the cook, with hair red enough to conflagrate any kitchen, played exceedingly well. Louis Millen portrayed the part of Leo Day, a "would-be politician".

The artistic floral effects on the stage were furnished through the courtesy of the Perkins Fower Shop. The stage effects for the play, produced by the Manual Arts department of the High School under the supervision of H. A. Swan, were excellent. The advertising posters were the work of the Art department under the instruction of Miss Mercedes Pearce.

The High School Orchestra, under the direction of S. A. Norris, also joined into the spirit of the occasion by producing music "100% better than any rendered heretofore".

It is a fascinating study to note the details of the preparation and production of even an amateur performance. Truly, there is a conglomeration of details to be attended to of which the audience has no knowledge. For this reason, mention of those who must do the work "behind the scenes" is hereby made: Ward Beachley, Stage Manager; Michael Goodbody, Assistant Stage Manager, (assisted by Howard Needham and Adrian Werner); Lewis Le Roy, Electrician; Albert Reid, Property Manager; Susan Mason, Ticket Auditor; and Robert Soderbery, Assistant Publicity Manager.

A word of congratulation is also due to Norma Allen and Kitty McIver, who were in charge of the box office. The ushers, "Marge" Healy (head usher), Dorothy Davis, Bunny Henderlet, Gail Kirchmaier, Esther Earle, Lucille Smith, Nancy Williams and Helen Healy, are to be commended for their neat appearance and noticeable courtesy.

HI-Y

The Hi-Y club held its first dinner-meeting of the semester Thursday evening in the High School.

Plans for an active season of athletics were arranged by the club. Hubert Craft was elected basketball manager, and Cecil Phillips was awarded the office of team captain.

The club's basketball aspirants, other than the two previously mentioned, are E. Anderson, C. Soderbery, R. McLean, D. Young, A. Reid, K. Gamble, H. Tatum, J. Thompson, J.

Bell, A. Laing, W. Sykes and C. Gladding.

An interesting football discussion, led by Coach Schaefer, club adviser, followed the lecture of the basketball officials.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

A warm discussion of a most worthy topic, "The Modern Girl", proved to be the substance of a Girls' League meeting last week.

Marjorie Healy spoke on the subject, "Has the Modern Girl Lost Her Charm?" Marge emphatically took the negative side of the question and was applauded by all the members of the organization.

Alice Winters addressed the League on "The Modern Girl and Her Educational Opportunities", while Susan Mason spoke on "Whether the Modern Girl Wants Marriage or a Career". Edith Laing enumerated the things that "The Modern Girl Strives For".

The grand finale of the discussion took place when Kiki Hiltz took the "soap box" and presented an oration on "The qualities that the Modern Girl Requires in Her Husband." Said qualities to include love, fidelity, trust, loyalty, sincerity, dependability, and good features. (One fair maiden considered "at least a little money" as a quality. As another expressed it, she would not marry unless the matrimonial agreement included half of the husband's wages. Quite interesting to realize that "cash" has become such a necessity that it is now considered a quality, isn't it?)

The discussion will probably be continued this week, so we may hear more on the subject soon. (It is indeed unfortunate that "The Modern Young Gentleman" is not permitted to aid the girls in their most interesting discussions.)

GIRL RESERVE NOTES

The Coronado Girl Reserves held their regular meeting Wednesday, December 1 in the G. R. cottage at Tent City in order to discuss the plans for their Christmas charity work. This will be a charity party for the children of the Helping Hand Orphanage in San Diego. A Christmas tree, Santa Claus, and gifts for each child will be featured as the main events.

Miss St. Clair, Girl Reserve Adviser, Pauline Neville—president, and Marjorie Healy, chairman, of the local service committee visited the Orphanage and found the children to be worthy of any help that might be given.

BOYS' LEAGUE

Arrangements for the organization of a Boys' League, to correspond with the present Girls' League of Coronado Hi, were made last week.

Discussion on the formation of the club was followed by appointment of class representatives to constitute a nomination committee. The nominations for the League officials were as follows: President—Horace Tatum and Ben Anderson; Vice-President—Richard Wegeforth and Charles Soderbery; Secretary-Treasurer—David Young and Donald Morrison. Mr. Shoemaker was unanimously elected adviser of the organization. The election of officials will take place at this week's meeting.

SILVER FOOTBALLS AWARDED

The various organizations and classes of the high school recently contributed toward a fund for miniature silver footballs to be awarded to the green and white varsity football squad.

The miniature silver pigskins, a unique work of art with a gold "C" embossed and engraved with the season and the name of the player receiving the memento, were received and awarded yesterday afternoon.

The fortunate players to receive the award were, Frank Metcalfe, (Captain), M. Goodbody, J. Thompson, J. Drury, E. Anderson, J. Bell, C. Phillips, T. Foote, R. Wegeforth, R. McLean, G. Nickell, J. Lyons, F. Greene and "Fuzzy" Ryan, as well as Coach A. E. Schaefer and Ben Anderson (squad manager).

TO CHANGE COLORS

A letter from Mr. B. F. Eneyart, principal of the La Jolla High School, received last week announces that La Jolla is considering a change of school colors, due to the Coronado-La Jolla-Oceanside, "green and white" conflict. The three schools have been using the similar hues, but Coronado secured them first and therefore retains the preference to keep them.

No communications from Oceanside have yet been received in regard to the matter.

"DITCH DAY" CELEBRATED

The high and mighty, grand and glorious Seniors of the good "young" class of '27 celebrated their annual "ditch day" a week ago last Tuesday. For the benefit of innocent readers, we may define "ditch day" as the one day each year in which the graduating class takes a vacation without leave of the faculty with the exception of the principal.

As is the custom the class (that is, part of it) journeyed into the back country, this day to Oakzanitas where the party enjoyed a jolly time. Although over-hanging clouds blotting out the sun there was no precipitation, but the snow on the neighboring mountain tops made the atmosphere a trifle chilly—so chilly, in fact, that Miss "Ernie" Hunker found it necessary to do a little "road work" behind one of the cars to warm her pedal extremities.

The party of pleasure seekers consisted of Constance Halverstadt,

Serena Smith, Pauline Neville, Lois Kirchmaier, Ernestine Hunker, Frances Foster, Marjorie Healy, Greta Lee and Beatrice Blaisdell, Horace Tatum, Wesley Kelley, Jack Kaufman, Michael Goodbody, Elwin Anderson, and Jack Thompson.

"THE POPPY"

Preliminary work on "The Poppy," the school annual, has commenced and will be well under way before the Christmas vacation. The class editors, elected by the respective classes recently, are as follows: Senior class, Mercedes Gates; Junior class, John Cory. David Young was chosen as Sophomore-class editor, but as he is to take a more important position on the staff the Sophs will make a second choice soon.

GIRLS WIN OVER BOYS

The girls of the student body exhibited their ticket selling ability by trampling upon the boys in the ticket selling contest of "The Goose Hangs High," student body production presented at the high school recently.

In the general admission contest the girls led the boys 85 to 50, and in the Saturday evening reserved tickets 21 to 17; but the boys stepped ahead of the girls in the sale of Friday evening "reserves", 40 to 37, thus proving that "all the girls cannot put it over on all the boys all the time."

Prentice Messimer won the individual contest by selling fifteen reserved and nine general admission tickets, while Bertha Gumaer placed second (first for the girls) by selling two reserved and thirteen general admission tickets.

GIRLS MAY RECEIVE LETTERS

A recommendation for letters for the eight members of the girls' varsity volleyball squad has been made recently by Miss Mercedes Pearce, girls' athletic coach. If the recommendation is approved the girls will be rewarded for their strenuous training work by receiving the "C's."

MISCELLANEOUS

At the last regular student body meeting John Brose, former student body president of Coronado Hi, was made welcome. Johnny—or rather, Mr. Brose—now a student at State College, gave a short address to the assembly.

A picture of the entire student body was taken by F. L. Hebard, San Diego photographer some time ago. The setting for the panorama photo was made at the rear of the high school theatre.

During basketball practice Wednesday afternoon, Junior Shoemaker, tripped and fell, sustaining a broken arm. The patient is recovering rapidly, fortunately, and will soon have the arm out of a sling.

ATHLETICS

Coach A. E. Schaefer's basketball teams are getting into form for the county league battles, the first of which will probably take place Friday, January 14th.

The local varsity squad, composed of Phillips, Anderson, Greene, Craft, McLean and Gamble, was defeated by the San Diego High School first lineup last Thursday afternoon by a score of 23 to 6. The showing made by the local players against the first choice of city and county was entirely satisfactory, according to a statement made by the Coach.

The Class "B" quintet met the Woodrow Wilson Junior High School squad last Tuesday, returning to Coronado with a 17 to 5 victory. The players were, Boston, Tatum, Gladding, Lyons, Corrin, A. Reid, and C. Soderbery.

"C" CLUB

The "C" club, under the leadership of Frank Metcalfe, 1926 Football Captain, held its first meeting of the season Thursday afternoon.

A suggestion was made that the club hold a smoker in order to raise "a little cash" for the various activities of the organization. After further discussion the suggestion became a motion with the result that the president appoint several committees to attend to the necessary details.

BOYS' LEAGUE

The arrangements for the organization of a Boys' League in the school are nearing completion. A secret ballot election of officers was made at the meeting last week. The results of the election present the following as charter officers: Ben Anderson, president; Richard Wegforth, vice-president; and Donald Morrison, secretary-treasurer. Mr. B. D. Shoemaker was unanimously elected adviser of the League.

Official activities of the club will commence with the new year, it was announced late last week.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

The Girls' League added to the attraction of the Christmas entertainment presented in the High School Theatre last Friday evening with the eight elaborately decorated booths, which rendered refreshments and various wares to the audience.

The Handkerchief Booth, owned, operated and supervised (?) by the Misses Audrey Griffith and Dorothy Allen, reported the remarkable sale of twenty-nine handkerchiefs in the first five minutes. Some going, eh, what? The other booths—with their respective patronesses—were, The Hawaiian Booth "Billy" Blaisdell and Adrienne Kramer; Spanish Food Booth, "Jerry" Van Voorhiss and Helen Healy; Isis Fortune Teller Booth, Lucille Billon and Susan Mason; Japanese Tea Booth, "Jody" Bruce and Juanita Boynton; Poinsettia Booth, Kay Johnson and Pauline Thompson; and the Eskimo Pie Booth, "Teddy" Earle and Anna Owens.

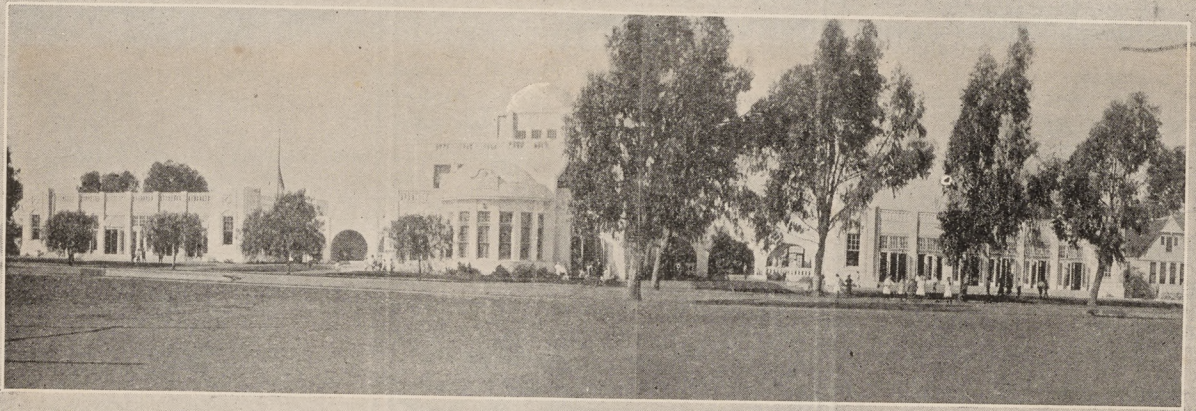

The following is the best true story that we have heard in a month of Sundays:

It happens that in CHS there is an individual (namely, "Soapy" McLean) who has most powerful vocal ability when it comes to imitating a siren. One evening recently two prominent members of the student body (viz., the Wright "twins") were "rambling" along at a rate a trifle exceeding the local speed limit when a siren was heard. One of the "twins" peered out of the car and noticed another vehicle approaching. Said "twin" (which one remains a mystery) informed the other "twin" that "Soapy" was following them. Speed was attained by both cars, only the car in the rear sped on a little faster. The pursued car attained "40" per when to the great amazement of the "twins" it was revealed that an officer of the law had been following, and who, a few moments later, presented them with a little slip of paper.

Nuf sed. (Moral: If you hear a siren apply the brakes, it's the safest policy.)

Coronado Schools Win In Art Exhibit

The Coronado Grammar School won first place in the County Fair art exhibit. Many complimentary remarks were received on the display. Coronado is proud of the showing made by her pupils. Much credit for the success goes to Mrs. Frances Freeman, the art director. The following are the awards:

4-5-6-7-8 Grades.

Sweepstake prize for the county art exhibit. Quality, variety, organization, classification and artistic arrangement.

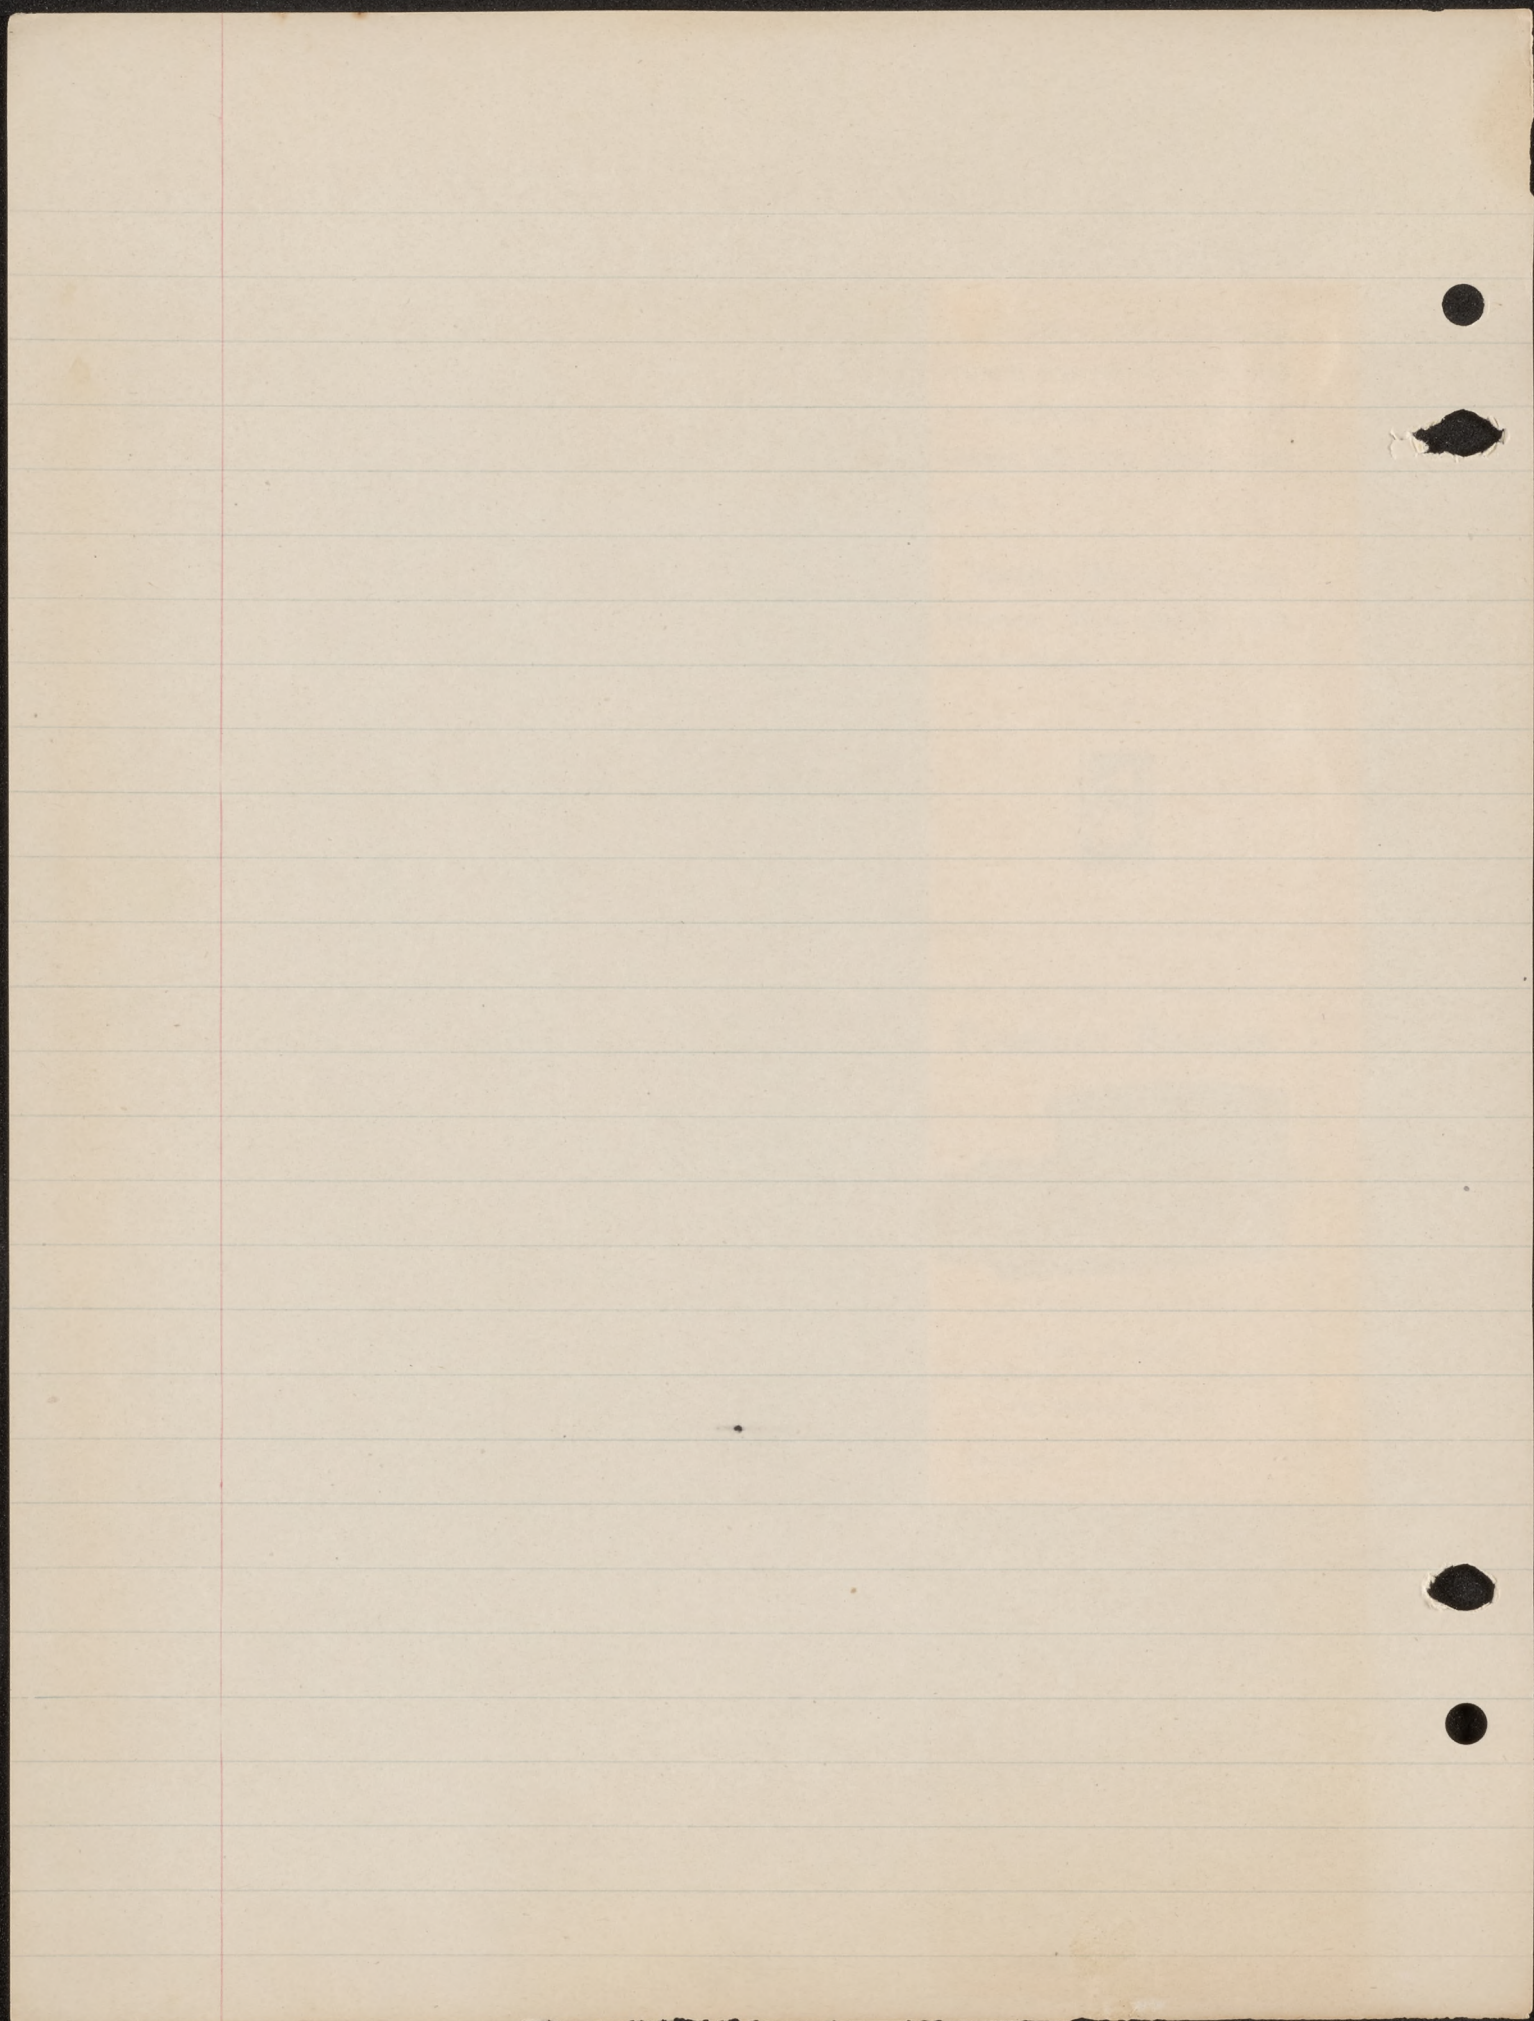

Special prize for designs drawn for Coronado flag.

For general exhibit of:

1. Cut work, first prize.
2. Border designs, first prize.
3. Wood block designs, first prize.
4. Freehand drawing, first prize.
5. Water color, first prize.
6. Poster work, first prize.
7. Lettering, first prize.
8. Original design work, first prize.
9. Book binding, first prize.
10. Stencil work, first prize.
11. Applied wood block design, first prize.
12. Boxes, second prize.
13. Paper cutting, third prize.

Miss Anna Vandercook, the music director of the grades and Junior High School has started the orchestra. Eight have reported. These show much enthusiasm. It is hoped that more will join. Also a beginners class in violin is to be started under the leadership of Mr. Pickering assisted by Miss Vandercook. All parents who would like to take advantage of this please call the school.

County Supervisors Call For Bids on Strand Road

The County Board of Supervisors asked for bids last Tuesday on the paving of the Coronado Strand highway. The bids will be opened on Oct. 8 and it is expected that the work will be started within a few days after the contracts are awarded. Unless the winter rains begin exceptionally early, it is hoped to have the Strand road completed before the first of the year.

Bids on three types of paving will be received. They are Willite plastic composition, Warehite bitulthic and Portland cement concrete.

The Strand highway will be paved from the southerly limits of Coronado to the paved road on Coronado heights a distance of 4.59 miles.

A majority of the Coronado Board of Trustees are strongly in favor of a cement on account of its greater degree of safety. Fogs and mists which prevail on ocean and bay fronts make asphalt slippery and dangerous, it is contended.

Oct. 6, 1923.

The Strand Highway

The proposed construction of a road along the Strand, from Coronado to the paved highway at Coronado Heights, appears to have raised a good deal of discussion on the relative merits of different kinds of surfacing.

It would be difficult to over estimate the importance of the strand road. By all rights, it should be one of the scenic drives of Southern California—and it will be, once a good road is laid.

The old oil pavement has reached the point where it can scarcely be called a road. As is the habit of most soft pavements, the sun's rays and the rolling friction from traffic have softened it and rolled it up into a series of humps and hollows which might well be compared to the Rocky Road to Dublin.

From what are presumed to be motives of economy, the supervisors have stated that they intend to pave with asphalt, arguing that the cost is lower than that of a more lasting pavement. Experiences with asphalt roads, however, cast some doubt on the real economy of this measure. San Diego has just appropriated funds to re-surface some of the most important downtown streets, where the asphalt has failed completely. Not only that, but well known tendency of an asphalt roadway toward dangerous slipping of traffic on its surface in wet weather, makes the problem a serious one. In many places in the north, asphalt streets have a concrete strip at the side—with a warning sign to "use concrete in damp weather." A road laid along the edge of the sea is going to be damp most of the time.

While economy from public officials is all too rare these days, the ultimate cost of this road in repairs, and its safety factor, make the consideration of a suitable surface a serious problem, and it is to be hoped that the supervisors will not take too hasty action in the matter.

Oct. 13, 1923.

Strand Road To Be Closed During Paving

The Griffith Construction company of San Diego, was awarded the contract this week by the board of supervisors for the paving of Coronado strand, 4.61 miles, with Portland cement concrete. A concrete highway 18 feet wide and five inches thick will be constructed and the Griffith company has announced that it will complete the entire work within 90 days from the signing of the contract, weather permitting. The cost of this long awaited improvement is $99,900, or 20 cents a square foot. Eight bids were submitted, five for concrete, two for Willite and one for Warrenite.

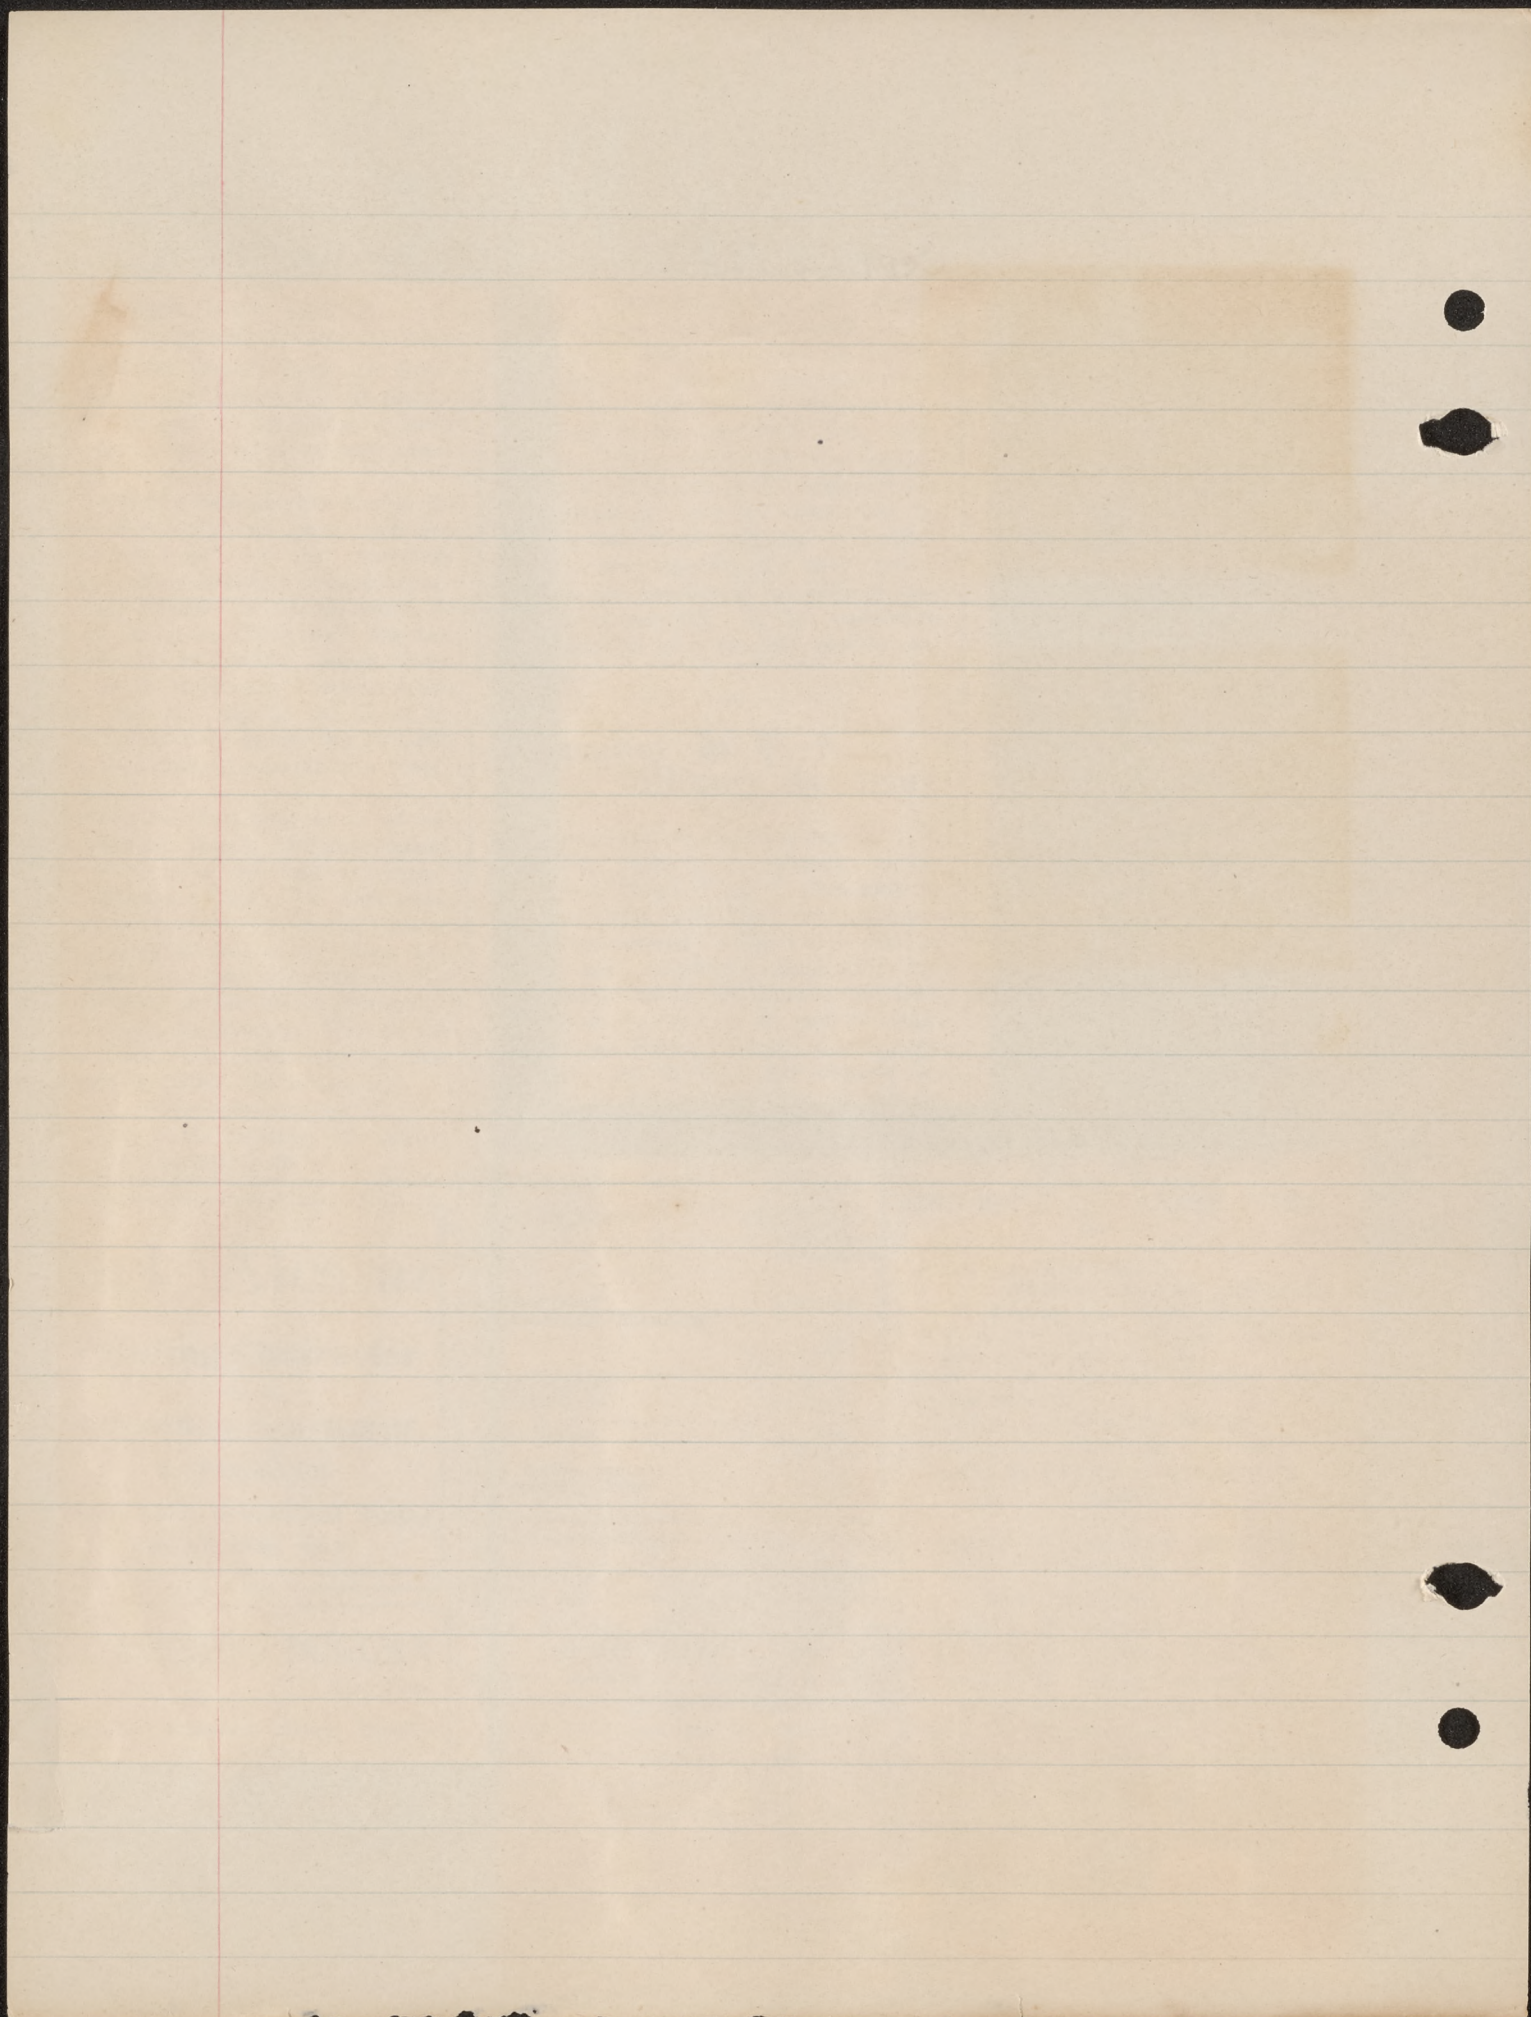

Supervisor E. A. Hornbeck, in whose district the new road lies, was agreeably surprised when the bids were opened. The desirability of Portland cement concrete for the Strand road had been conceded, but it was expected that bids for this type of pavement would run much higher than those for the asphalt types. Comparison of the figures, however, showed that the lowest bid on cement concrete was only $600.94 higher than on the patented pavements. When the figures were closely examined, it developed that the Portland cement concrete was really the least expensive of the three.

The figure is $3265.34 less than the original engineer's estimate of the job.

An agreement was reached whereby the Coronado strand will be closed to all traffic during the work of paving. "It may work some inconvenience on the people of Coronado," said Supervisor Hornbeck, "but it is impracticable to build a detour or temporary road, and it will be best to close the Strand entirely in order that the contractor may complete the work at the earliest possible moment."

Coronado Men Held For $1000 Theft

Walter Beckman and Francis Robinson, who were recently employed on the ferry boats, are lodged in the county jail charged with stripping the municipal garbage incinerator of machinery valued at approximately $1000.

The stripping of the incinerator, which is located on the strand, one mile below Tent City began Friday, October 5. Ted Hooper, Ed Meza, Kenneth Bandel and L. W. Dennison were driving along the strand road that evening when they noticed that the incinerator had been broken into. They stopped and investigated and found the place wrecked. The boys then reported the matter to L. C. Bandel, who in turn reported the robbery to Marshal Myers.

Believing that the men might still be at work Marshall Myers and Motorcycle officers Glyn and Martin, accompanied by Fire Chief Sanven and City Manager Allen, started toward the place Saturday morning. At Ada place and Orange avenue they were met by a truck on which the boiler from the incinerator was loaded; Sanven recognizing the piece of machinery. Beckman and Robinson were in another car and doubled back when they saw the officers stop the truck, making their escape to San Diego via the strand road, while the truck driver was being questioned. The truck had been sent over by the Reliable Junk company of San Diego, on orders of the two men, the driver said.

Officer Martin went to San Diego and apprehended the two men in the offices of the ferry company where they had gone to cash Robinson's pay check.

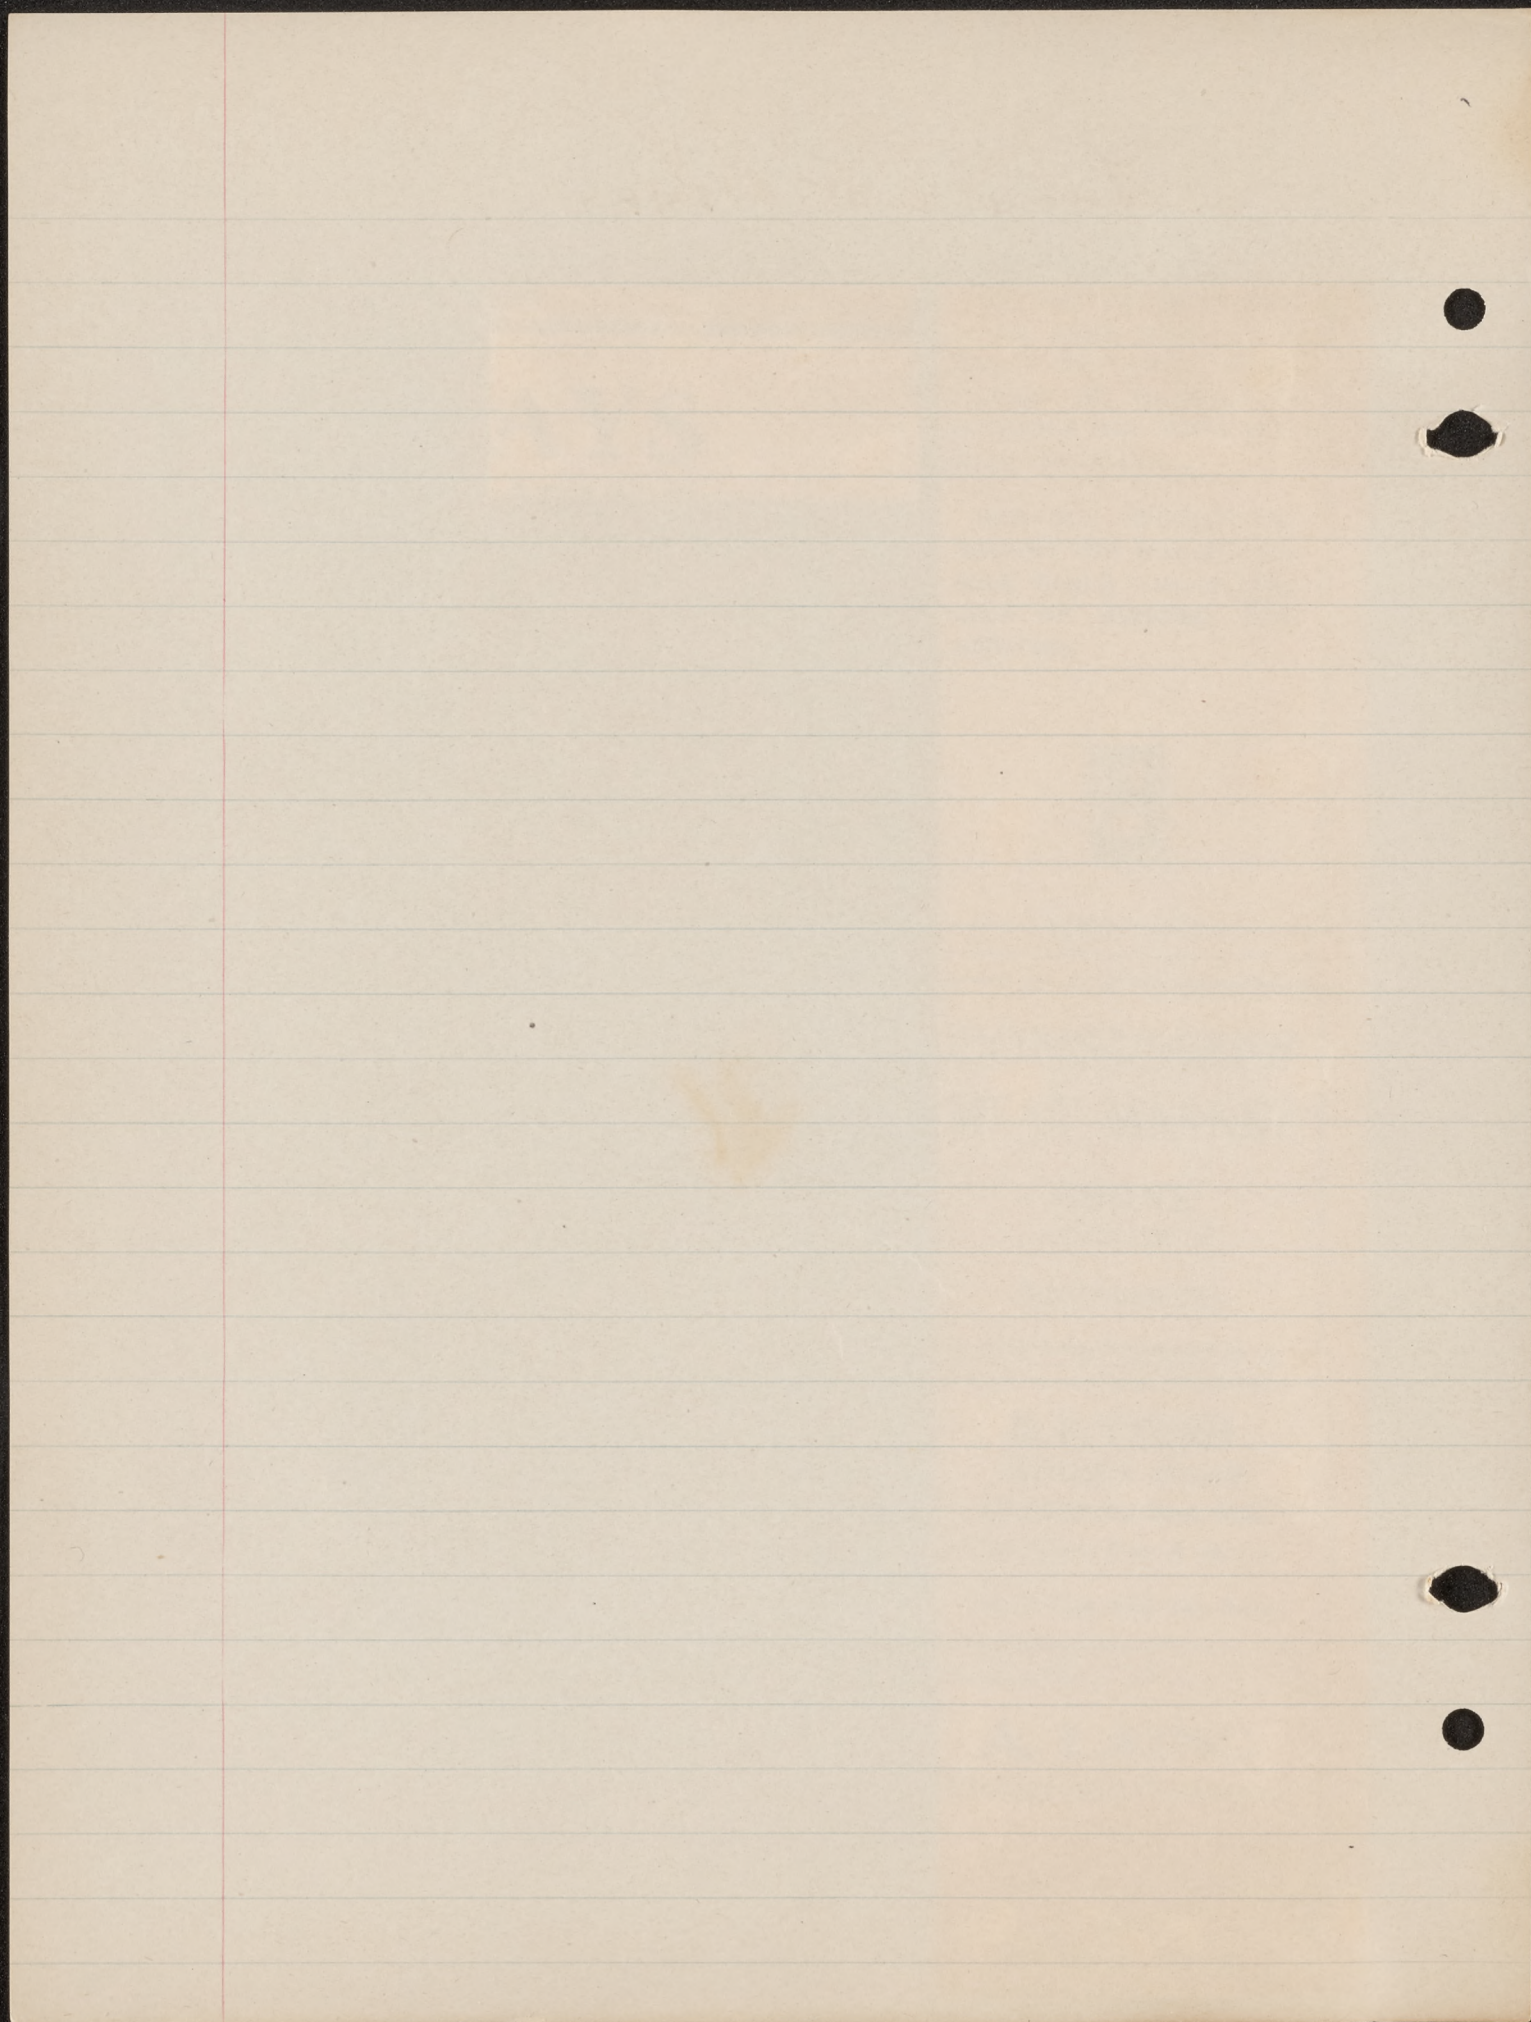

City Manager Allen swore to a complaint against the two men on October 9 and they were arraigned that morning before Justice Jennings. Their bail was fixed at $500 each which they were unable to furnish and preliminary hearing was set for Friday, October 26.

According to Marshal Myers the two men received $60 for the machinery, consisting of pump, manhole covers and other castings which were sold as scrap iron.

City Manager Allen states that the incinerator plant is a complete wreck and he estimates the cost of repairs at $1000.

Mrs. Carrie Jones, 869 D avenue, was taken to the Coronado Emergency hospital last week and operated on by Dr. Wegeforth for a ruptured appendix. According to hospital authorities Mrs. Jones is now able to sit up and will soon be able to leave the hospital.

Trooper Falls From Horse at Fete of Sun

Pvt. Sheldon Mills, troop G, 11th cavalry, fell from his mount in one of the scenes of the Fete of the Sun last Monday afternoon, when the men of Troop "G" galloped past the audience at a fast pace. He sustained a concussion of the brain and severe lacerations of the head and body. He was removed to the Coronado emergency hospital for first-aid treatment and later taken to the army hospital at Fort Rosecrans.

Three horses jumped over his body, the foot of one of them hitting his head. It is reported that he will soon recover.

John Ringling, one of the owners of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus, was an interested spectator at the Fete of the Sun, and stated that the horsemanship of the cavalry troop was superb. He was impressed with the cool manner in which the men handled their horses and went through the performance without a hitch after Pvt. Mills fell.

Coronado Couple United In Marriage

Mary Fousse, daughter of Emil L. Fousse, 933 Orange avenue, was united in marriage last Monday evening to Claude Lindgren, well known Coronado boy, at the home of Rev. Nottley S. Hammack, Pastor of the Graham Memorial church.

Miss Fousse has been a resident of Coronado for many years and has a wide acquaintanceship here. She received her education at the Coronado High School, graduating with the class of 1917.

Mr. Lindgren is a brother of W. Lindgren, one of the proprietors of the Guarantee garage, and has been residing in Coronado for the past four years.

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in the Yosemite valley, and expect to return to Coronado the latter part of next week.

Evelyn L. Crockett To Marry H. L. Rickey

The marriage of Miss Evelyn L. Crockett and Herbert H. Rickey, popular young Coronado people, will be solemnized this afternoon at 2 p. m. at the residence of the Rev. Nottley S. Hammack, Pastor of the Graham Memorial church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Florence Crockett, owner of the Poppy confectionery store, and has been a resident of Coronado for the past 3 years. Herbert Rickey has lived here for the past 8 years and is a civilian employee at Rockwell field.

After a short honeymoon trip the happy couple will be at home to their friends at 555 H avenue.

Mrs. John W. Mitchell of Ocean Boulevard, entertained last Thursday evening at the Mitchell Gallery of Fine Arts with a party for a group of members of the high school.

Mrs. Donnell and Miss Fern Bowden played selections on the wonderful gamery organ, to some of which the party danced. The dancing was followed by delightful refreshments served in the Italian room. A beautiful Christmas theme was represented in the table and room decorations and all the guests joined in singing Christmas carols at the close of the delightful evening.

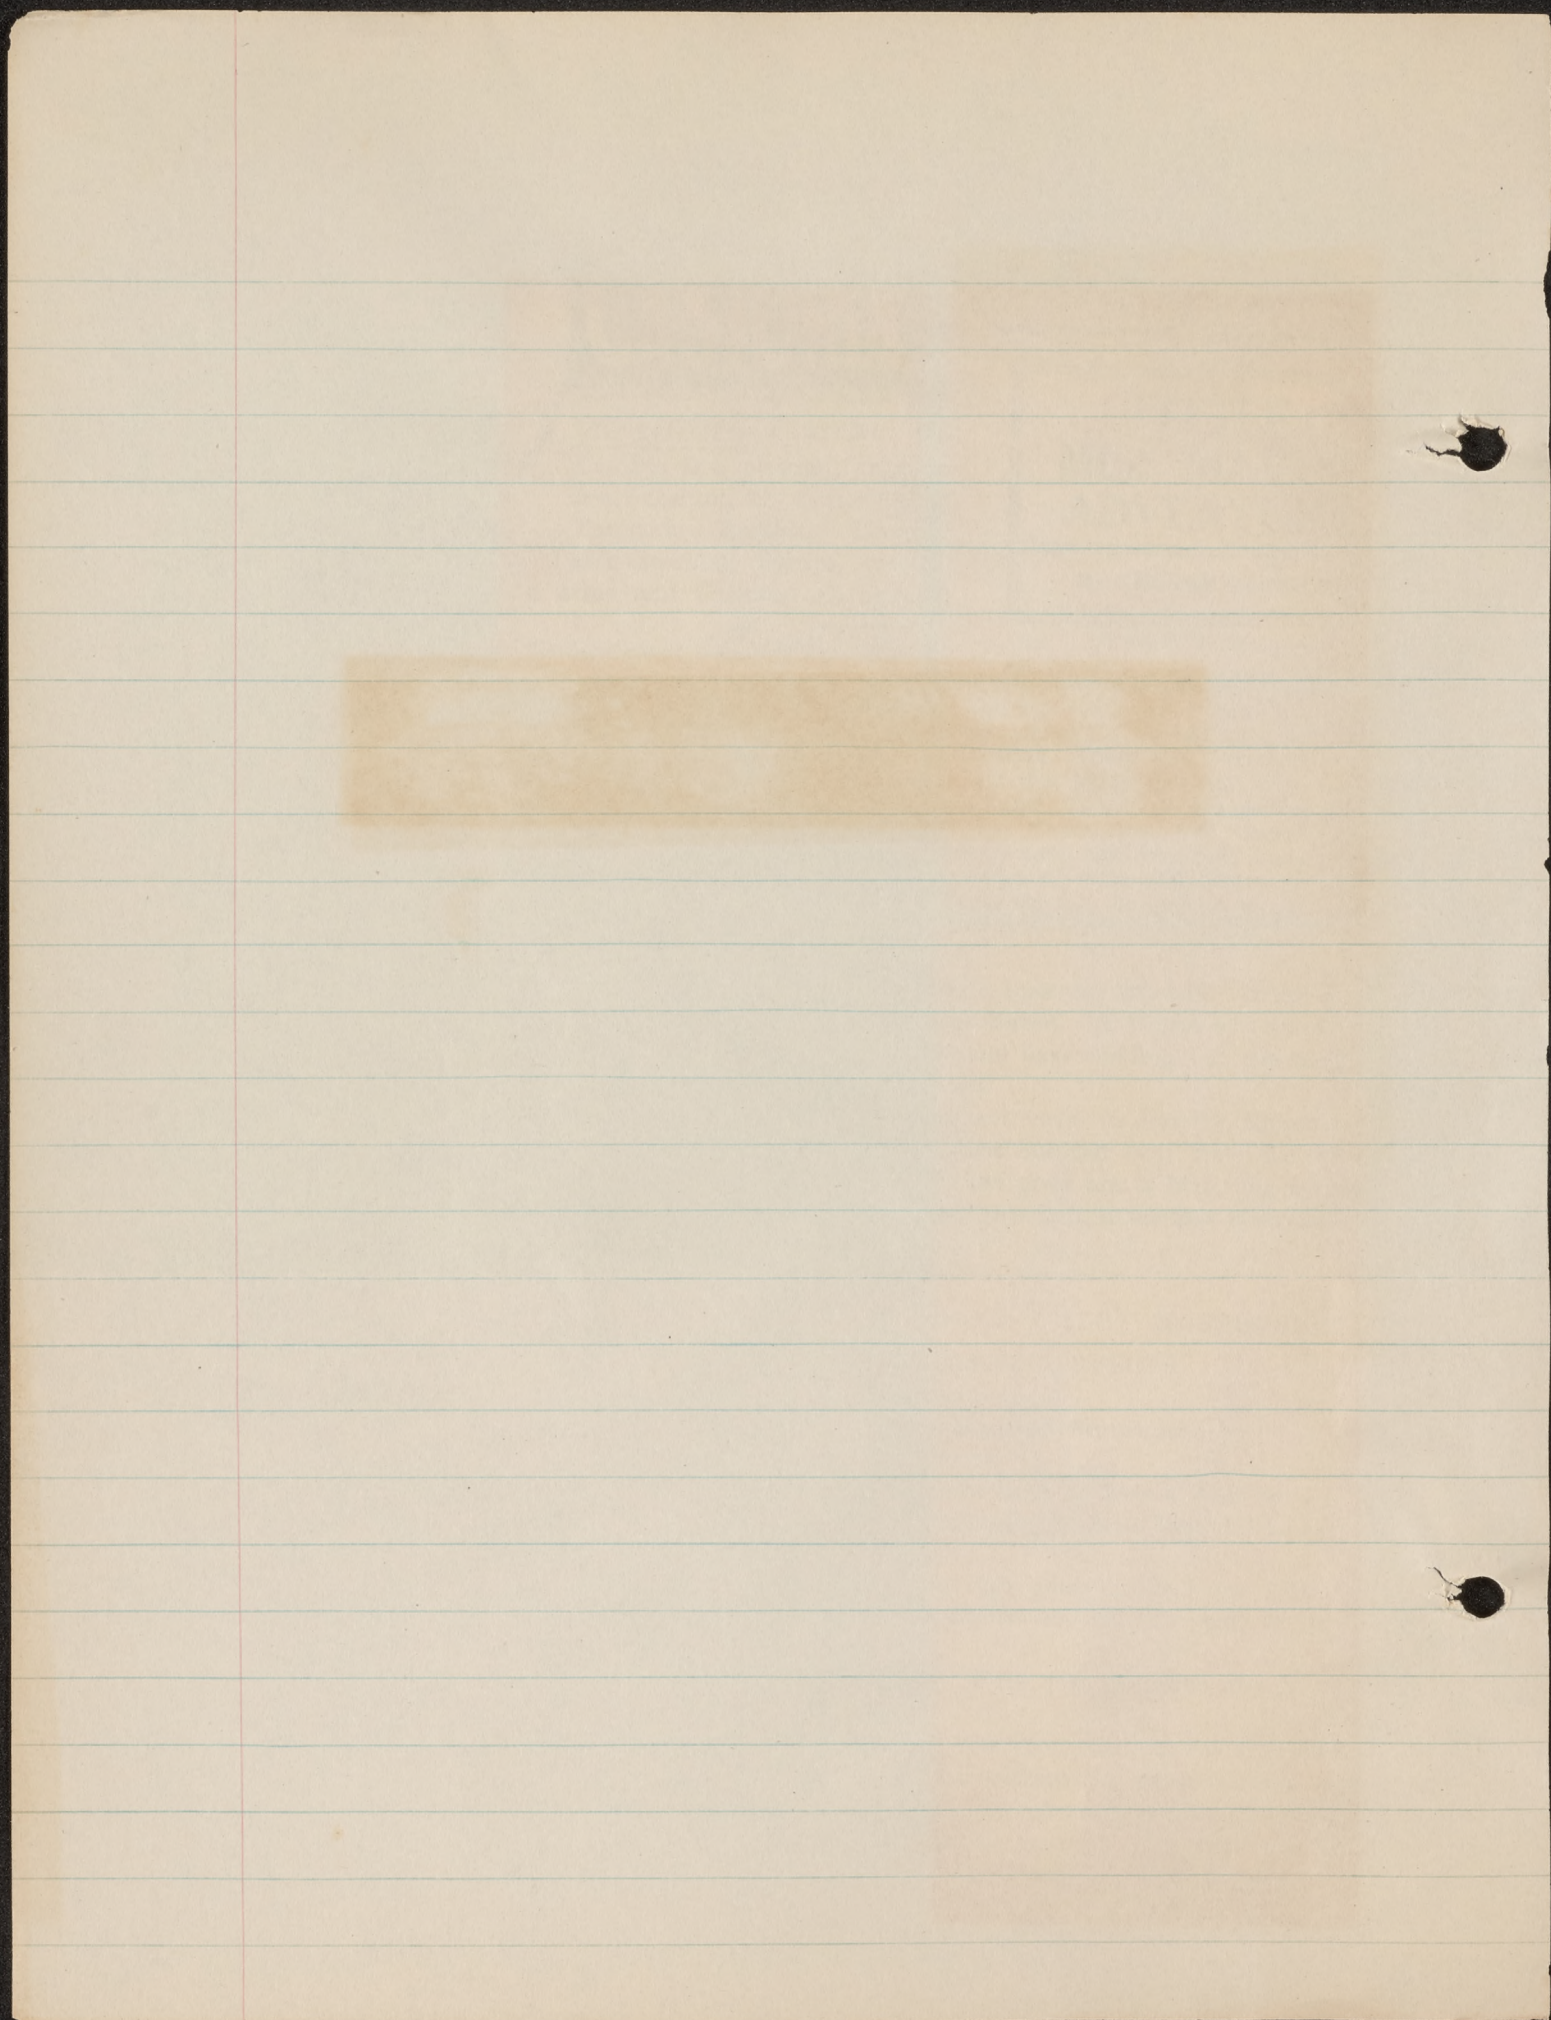

Mrs. Mitchell's guests included: Misses Helen Healy, Sally Cutler, Josephine Bruce, Pauline Thompson, Mercedes Gates, Lois Kirchmaier, Fern Bowden, Gail Kirchmaier and Ernestine Hunker; Messrs. David Young, Richard Wegeforth, Malcolm Wright, Thomas Foote, Dudley Wright, Alfred Laing, Ward Beachley, Leo Hansen and Louis Millen, as well as Miss Pinkney, Miss Mary O'Harra, Mrs. Donnell and Miss Elsa Miller, her house guests.

Coronado Residents Will Make Their Home in San Diego

Commander Harlow T. Kays has been ordered to the Eleventh Naval District, with headquarters in San Diego. The Commander and his charming wife and daughter, Dorothea, have been very prominent in Coronado society, and from which they will be greatly missed. They will build a home in San Diego. Mrs. Kays will be a great addition to the musical colony of that city, having taken part in many of the operas given by the San Diego Opera Company. Miss Dorothea Kays is a very talented dancer and has appeared in a number of public performances. Their many friends wish them all happiness in their new home.

Miss Myliss Foster
Weds in Los Angeles

Aug. 17, 1926

Announcement comes of the marriage of Miss Myliss Foster which took place in Los Angeles, July 31st, when she became the bride of Karl Parcell. Mrs. Parcell, who is the daughter of Mrs. Nellie Foster, of 844 Cl avenue, is a native of Coronado, having attended the Coronado schools and graduating from the Coronado High School two years ago. Mr. Parcell is manager of the California Baking Company of Los Angeles. The young couple are now making their home in Hollywood.

Mrs. W. S. Millen, 410 Third street, accompanied her son Louis, on a trip to Glendale this past week end, where he attended a convention of the Hi-Y boys. They too, experienced the inconveniences of traveling during a cloud burst, as did a number of motorists from this district.

Boy Scout Movement Big Factor In Training Youth for Citizenship

Scouting first was permanently organized in San Diego early in 1917, following a dinner given by Col. Milton A. McRae, to 100 leading business and professional men of San Diego.

The presidents of the local Scout council have been, Col. Milton A. McRae, 1917; Duncan MacKinnon, 1918, 1919, 1920; George Burnham, 1921; Leslie S. Everts, 1922; Sam S. Porter, 1923; Mat F. Heller, 1924; Carl H. Heilbron, 1925; George Mayne, 1926; Charles E. Rinehart, 1927, 1928, 1929.

Beginning with 54 registered Scouts in 1917, the movement has grown to an annual registration this year in excess of 1500 Scouts and 500 adult leaders; a total of 17,823 registrations have been issued in the 12 years of the local council activities in San Diego city and county.

HAVE FINE HEADQUARTERS

In 1920 the board of park commissioners granted the Boy Scouts of America the use of the Indian Village, or Painted Desert, a reservation of five acres on the north side of Balboa park, which serves the movement as an overnight week-end training camp and headquarters.

The citizens of San Diego city and county, responding generously to a call for funds to rebuild the Indian Village in order to preserve the pueblo buildings and adapt them to Scouting activities, in April, 1927, made it possible for the local Scout council to preserve these unique replicas of the pueblo Indian dwellings, and make quarters for the week-end overnight camping activities, with sufficient rooms for administration offices, woodworking and print shops, canteen, hospital and large assembly hall. New construction provided a large mess hall and swimming pool.

In addition to the generous response with money, practically every building material supply firm in the city made liberal donations and the labor unions, civic organizations, and lodges responded with workmen, with the result that the San Diego Boy Scout Indian Village headquarters is pronounced the most outstanding Boy Scout headquarters in the world.

BOYS RESPOND

The boys of San Diego city and county have responded in fine style to this generous provision in their behalf with the result that their activities have given them a high record on the Pacific coast, which district leads the whole county.

The local council, which has jurisdiction over San Diego city and county, is composed of 64 active troops, each sponsored by a church, brotherhood, Sunday school, American Legion post, Kiwanis, Rotary, Civic club or chamber of commerce.

One hundred and thirty-one boys have made the Eagle Scout rank, the highest achievement in Scouting. More than 15,000 merit badges have been earned and awarded at the monthly court of honor camp fires held the first Friday evening of each month at the Indian Village.

ENJOY CAMP

More than 400 Boy Scouts have spent one or more weeks this summer in camp at Camp Fletcher, in the Cuyamaca mountains, a beautiful camping reservation presented to the local council by Col. Ed Fletcher, where swimming, boating, fishing and hiking are provided, while the Indian Village swimming pool shows a record of more than 10,000 swims a year, for which no charge is made, each boy being entitled to at least one swim a week throughout the year.

Three training courses are conducted at the Indian Village annually for present and prospective Scout leaders, and at least two training courses are conducted for the boy leaders.

SCOUT NOTES

The Coronado Boy Scouts camped in a canyon between Murray Dam and Doby Falls for a few days last week. The boys occupied themselves by passing tests, swimming at Doby Falls and boating at Murray Dam, where boat races for the Scouts were held. Scout Master Robert Manwaring was in charge of the camp. Those who attended camp were Scouts, A. Read, Mays, R. Hathaway, Meyers, Phillips, Owens, Brown, V. Lions, Rogers, D. Wright, M. Wright and Manwaring.

Scout Court of Honor was held Thursday afternoon at the City Hall. Mayor Harper, Harold Taylor and a Scout representative from headquarters presented the 36 badges which were earned by Scouts Phillips, Rogers, Meyers, Bandel and Hathaway.

SCOUT NOTES

The Boy Scouts of the Coronado Troop have been very busy lately helping with community work, having distributed invitations for the opening of the new emergency hospital, as well as distributing in the town pamphlets and posters concerning the clean up week.

At the Convention of California Municipalities, which is being held at the Hotel, relays of two scouts on duty during the business sessions to help out in all possible ways.

The scouts also took an active part at the Fete of the Sun. Doctor Wegforth, who was in charge of the first-aid tent, had twelve scouts under his supervision. The scouts were distributed among the crowd prepared for emergencies.

Two new scouts Horace Tatum and Howard Needham, took oath and received their tenderfoot badges at the last meeting. At the same meeting two candidates, Thomas Owens and Dan Rudoff, were voted into the troop and will take oath soon.

The last few days has been the first public appearance of our new neckerchiefs. We desire to know whether Coronado likes them.

Boy Scout Notes

At a recent meeting of the Coronado Troop of Boy Scouts, we were extremely fortunate in having Gen. Pendleton with us.

Four Scouts arrived at the rank of first class at the Boy Scout Summer Camp at Point Loma.

Gen. Pendleton presented the following Scouts with first class badges: Walston Brown, Charles Sodaberry, Malcolm Wright and Dudley Wright.

The troop is planning on having a hike to Alpine, in order to give the veterans our Minstrel Show entertainment.

The next troop meeting will be held at troop headquarters, Saturday Sept. 22 at 4:30 p. m.

Sept. 29, 1923.

Boy Scout Notes

At the last meeting of the Coronado Scout Troop the scouts cleaned up their meeting place, then various games were played, all of which were enjoyed. Following this the scouts held a grand banquet, and needless to say, every scout took part. After the banquet Thomas Owens, a new recruit took his scout oath.

During the last few weeks the greater part of the troop's time was taken up in preparation for the minstrel show which was given Friday evening at the High School auditorium. The returns of the same are to be turned over for the benefit of the widows, parents and relatives of the twenty-three sailors who lost their lives in the Honda disaster.

Boy Scout Notes

By Louis Millen

The Coronado Scouts have been very busy in preparation for the Minstrel Show which they gave last Friday evening at the High School auditorium. The boys made quite a success of the minstrel show. The minstrels sang songs, told jokes and did some comic acting. This was followed by a first aid act, in which two boys clashed together while on bicycles, and a certain patrol gave first aid to the riders. This patrol demonstrated first aid, showing how bandages were made from neckerchiefs and stretchers from shirts of two of the scouts.

After the first aid act a scout cartoonist demonstrated his ability on the stage by drawing numerous comic sketches. The closing event was three human pyramids built by the scouts, one of which was a semaphore tower with one of the scouts standing on top of six other scouts demonstrating signalling.

The finishing touch of the show was when the scouts lined up with their colors, and as the curtain was being lowered they repeated their oath and laws.

The estimated attendance at the show was two hundred. The returns of this show have been turned over to the benefit committee for the dependent relatives of the men who lost their lives in the Honda Disaster. The scouts are going to give the show again at the home of the disabled soldiers stationed at Alpine at the end of the coming week.

Boy Scout Notes

At the last meeting of the Coronado scouts a bicycle patrol was organized. Louis Millen was elected leader of the patrol but as he injured his knee at the meeting, Hubert Craft was elected assistant and took charge under the supervision of the scoutmaster.

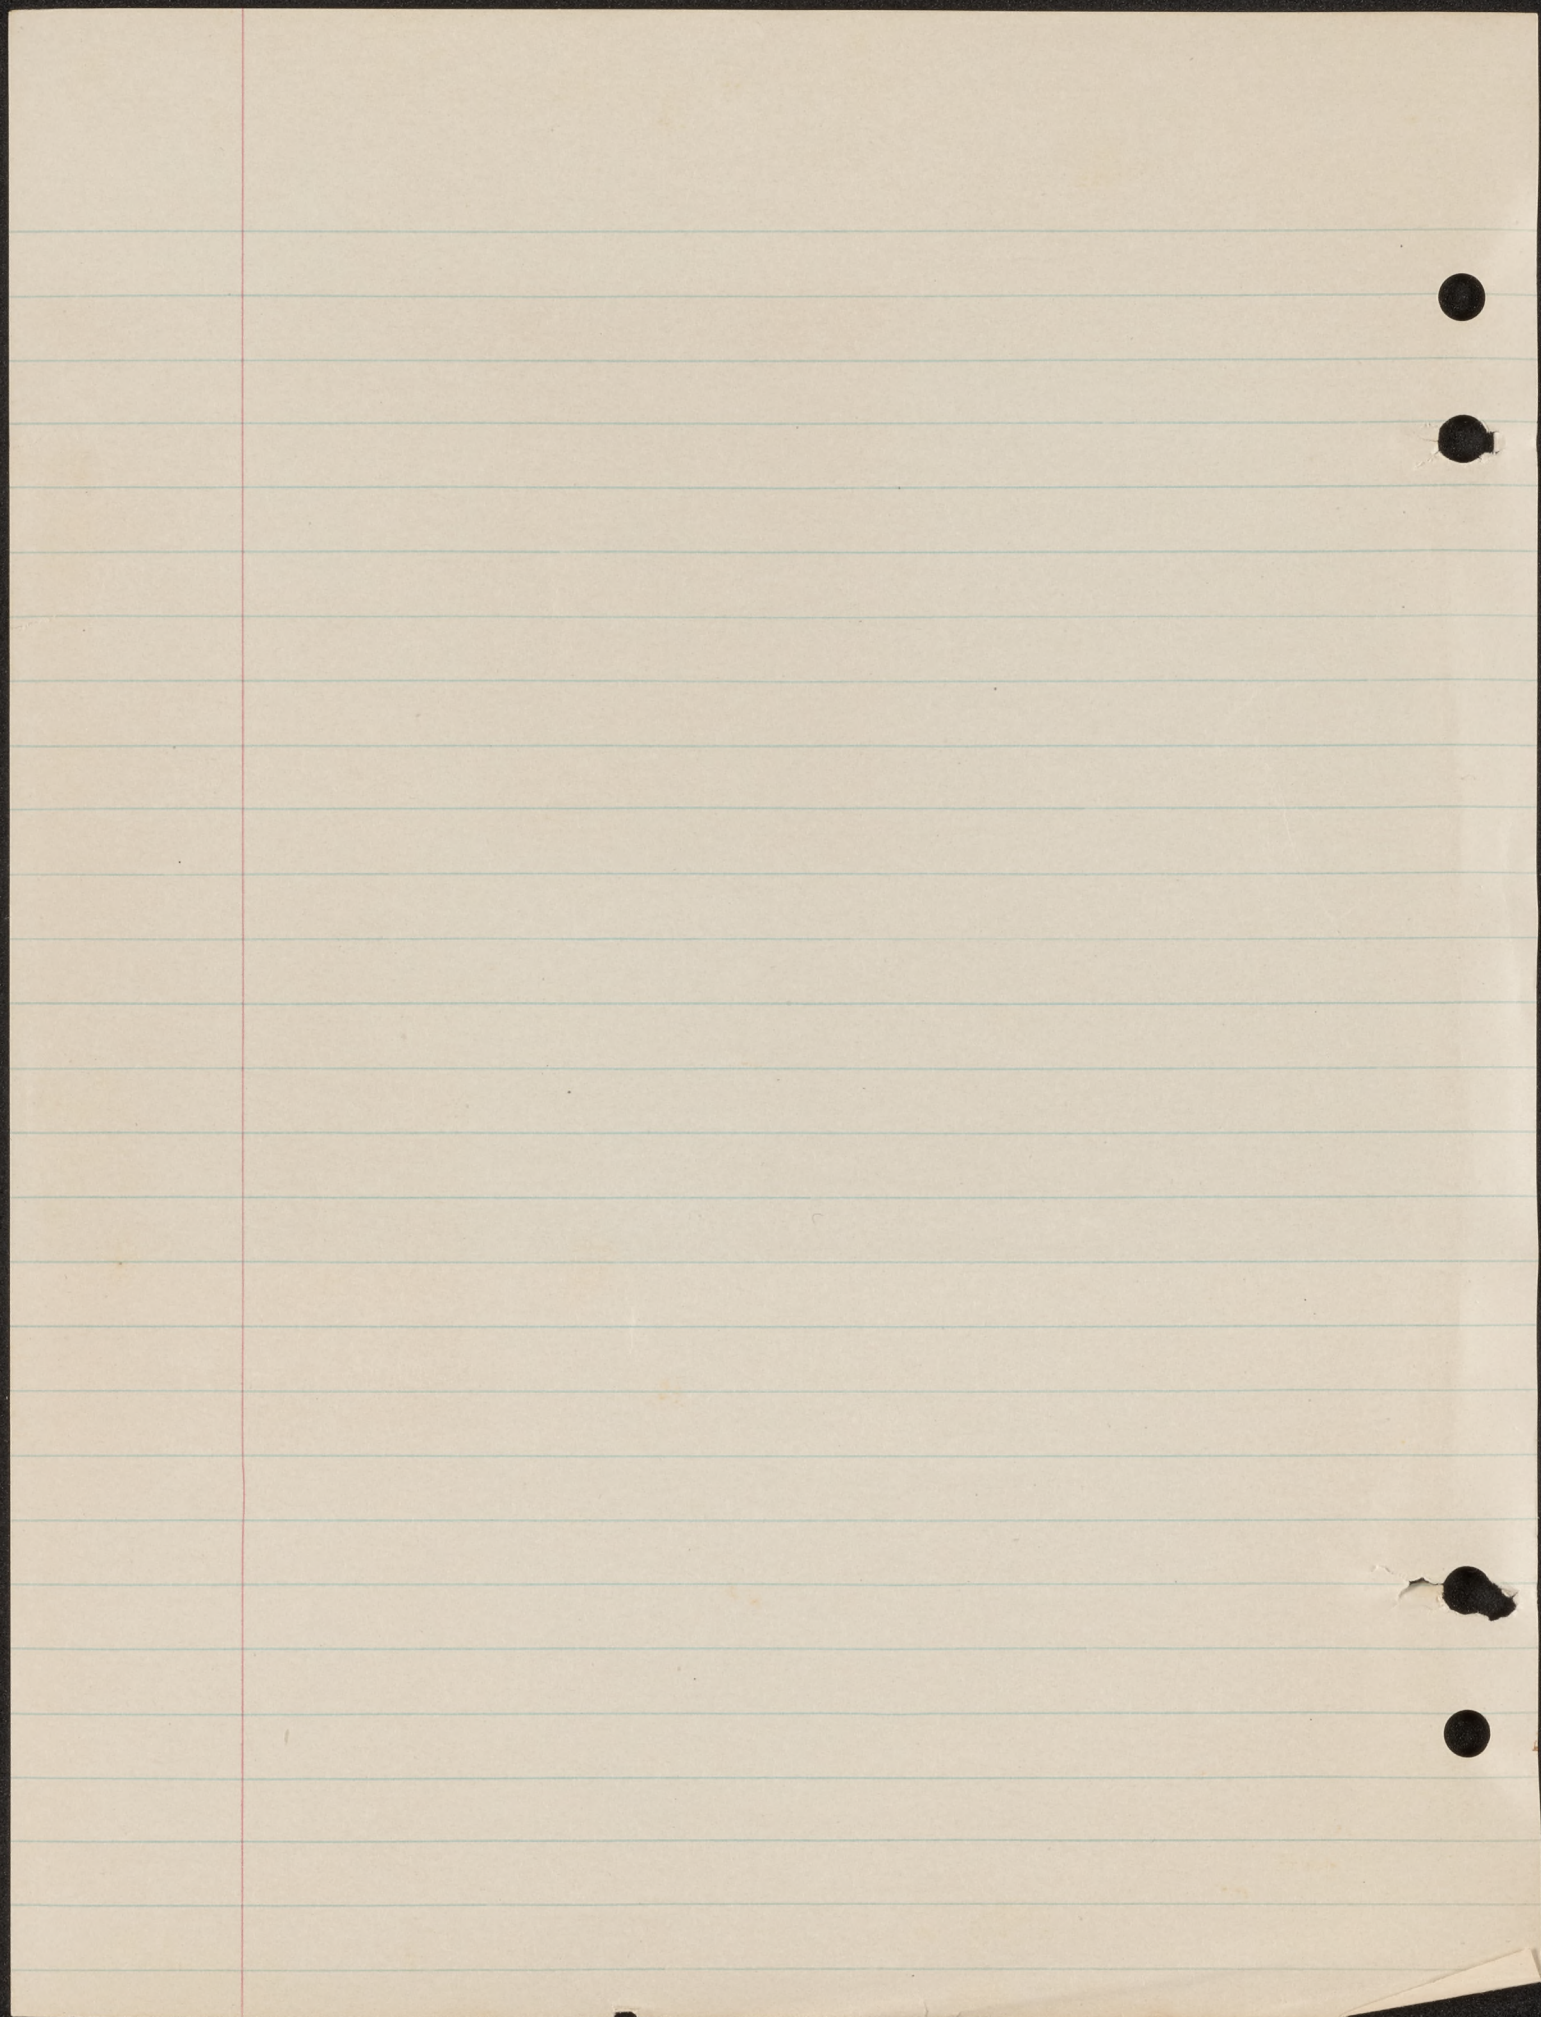

At the camp fire after the meeting, Mr. Wolf, deputy commissioner of the San Diego Scout Council spoke to the boys. After his interesting talk, Mr. Wolf presented Robert Soderberg, a new member of the troop, with his tenderfoot badge. The boys then gave Mr. Wolf a yell and were dismissed.

The scouts have been busy making plans during the last week, for a trip to Alpine to give a minstrel to the disabled soldiers at the hospital there.
